Britain Asks U.S. Take Greek Load

British-French Pact Concluded

LONDON, (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin in the commons Friday announced agreement on a British-French treaty of alliance.

Bevin said he hoped he and French Foreign Minister Bidault would sign the treaty next Tuesday at Dunkerque.

"It is evidence of the bonds of friendship" between the two countries, he said.

Dunkerque has special significance to the two countries as a scene of horror and defeat resulting from attempted wartime co-operation which fell short of its goal of stopping the Germans in 1940.

Anthony Eden, Conservative former foreign minister, congratulated Bevin for concluding the new alliance.

"Close and enduring friendship between the two nations is a contribution to world peace," Eden said, adding that members of the house "would all be with Mr. Bevin in spirit at Dunkerque."

House members cheered.

Butter Price Rise in May Is Held 'Practically Certain'

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA. — An increase in the price of butter effective May 1 is practically certain, according to reliable sources here.

It is understood the price may jump as much as 10 cents per pound, which would mean Canadians would pay 52 to 57 cents a pound. In December butter prices across Canada ranged from 42 to 47 cents per pound, the average being around 45 cents.

The producers' subsidy of 10 cents per pound of butterfat used in the manufacture of creamery butter expires April 30.

Want Higher Return

Should the government decide to withdraw the subsidy on butterfat a lifting of the ceiling would be necessary if the farmer is to receive the same amount for his butterfat. Actually dairy farmers contend that due to rising costs they are not receiving a fair price for their butter.

Friday the Canadian Federation of Agriculture presented a request for an increase in the butterfat ceiling prices on dairy products to compensate producers of milk for increasing costs.

They claim ceiling prices are so low production is being discouraged, with the result the government has had to import butter and has even considered the use of oleomargarine.

Three Choices

In respect to butter the government can do one of three things:

1. Cut the subsidy, in line with government policy in respect to the eventual withdrawal of all subsidies, and raise the ceiling price.

2. Remove the subsidy entirely and raise the ceiling to compensate for the loss of the subsidy to the farmer and even provide some additional profit.

3. Remove the subsidy and the ceiling at the same time.

Last fall Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the entire situation would be reviewed before May 1. The guess here is that the government will not resort to the third expedient. The feeling is the No. 1 plan will be followed — partial removal of the subsidy together with some rise in the ceiling.

Move New Derrick To Leduc Oilfield

Derrick for Leduc No. 3 — a new well to be drilled by Imperial Oil Limited a few miles from its discovery well — was being unloaded from railway flatcars in Leduc Friday and moved by truck to the new site.

The derrick, capable of boring to a depth of 8,000 feet, will be assembled on the well site starting Saturday or Monday. It was shipped to Leduc from Provost.

Activity at Leduc No. 1 included the continuation of various "choke tests" to judge the best rate of efficient flow. From 8:00 a.m. Wednesday to 8:00 a.m. Friday, the well produced 542 barrels of light-grade oil.

Meanwhile, drilling operations at Leduc No. 2, where a portable rig is in action, was continuing at a fast pace, the depth at 9:00 a.m. Friday being 2,982 feet.

To other parts of Alberta, 15 wells will be drilled, six in the Turner Valley field, eight in the Lloydminster field and one north of the Turner Valley. Companies owning drilling rights announced the program Thursday.

Miners Threaten To Cut Off Power

NEW GLASGOW, N. S., (CP) — The United Mine Workers (C.C.L.) have told officials of the Dominion Steel and Coal company's 2,000-foot pound Allan shaft here that unless industrial power users are cut off from the Nova Scotia electric grid by Friday afternoon their maintenance men will be withdrawn from the power house.

A union spokesman quoted a mine official as saying if the power house men are withdrawn, the remaining maintenance men in the mine will be called out and the company officials substituted. An official described the effect of such a move as the possible end of coal production in the shaft for "a long time."

F. H. Munro, U. M. W. board member, explained the mine power house men are complying under the Pictou county power dispute award, a public utility, which distributes it to county consumers, including industries.

More Information About Canada Urged

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — Greater circulation in the United States of news and information about Canada was urged Thursday night by T. J. Allard, public service director of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, in an address before the University of Oklahoma's annual radio conference.

He said Canada's increasingly important position in world affairs had made it "urgent" that United States citizens be kept adequately informed about what Canada is and does.

Russia Asked Britain Tell France of Pact

PARIS, (Reuters) — Russia asked Britain to inform France of the provisions of the Anglo-Soviet treaty of alliance of 1942 so that new treaties between the three countries could be drawn up on comparable bases, Premier Ramadier disclosed Thursday.

He said he had "every reason for optimism" about French agreement with both Britain and Russia.

Ramadier expressed hope that diplomatic conversations "in the near future . . . will result in comparable treaties for each of the three countries, with corresponding obligations and equal force."

Vancouver Police To 'Shoot First'

VANCOUVER, (CP) — A red-masked desperado, undaunted by a police threat to "wipe out" Vancouver's under-world, held-up a 75-year-old grocer at gunpoint Thursday and escaped with $50.

The bandit struck as an aroused police force started an all-out, shoot-first drive against criminals following a gun battle between police and a youthful bandit trio Wednesday that ended in the slaying of a policeman. One of the gunmen was killed, the other two, one wounded, have been charged with murder. The cases Thursday were remanded for a week.

Police threw a tight guard around Mrs. Madeline Medos, 23, wife of Harry Medos, 19, the wounded gunman. She is expected to be a star witness during the trial of her husband and the third member of the trio, 11-year-old William Henderson, both charged with the murder of police officers Charles Boyes, 39, and George O. Ledingham, 40.

Chief Other Victim

Police officers conducted a full-scale investigation Friday into unsolved bank robberies and major holdups, seeking to find if there is a link with the gunmen who killed the policemen.

Chief Constable Walter Mulligan promised protection for Mrs. Medos, who said she would seek protection under the Canada Evidence act before testifying.

Mrs. Medos, promised information about "the gang."

"It would be wonderful if the police can clean up the underworld through me," she told reporters.

"Get Me if They Can"

"There are at least 30 guys that will get me if they can," she declared, unfolding a story of a six-weeks honeymoon that ended two weeks ago by her husband threatening "if I ever talked to police I would be looked after sooner or later."

Mayor G. G. McGeer and Chief Mulligan announced a civic funeral for the two policemen, will be held Sunday.

Hospital authorities reported Det. Percy Alan Knox, who was also killed one bandit and wounded Medos, was well on the way to recovery. Hoare was wounded in the hip and shoulder. Medos, seriously wounded as he fled from police, was reported in "fair condition" for the second successive day.

Believe 13 Aboard Lost B-29 Plane

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Army Air Forces reported Thursday that 13 men were believed aboard the B-29 plane which has been missing in Alaska since Monday. Earlier reports put the number of crew members at 11.

Search for the ship are being conducted by planes flying from bases at Elmendorf field and Fairbanks, Alaska, and in the Aleutian islands. No trace of it has been found.

Mt. Etna Erupting For Fourth Day

PALERMO, Italy, (AP)—Mt. Etna continued to erupt lava for the fourth day Friday, devastating forests and vineyards and menacing villages.

The molten flow—thus far more or less held within deep channels gouged out by Etna's 1928 eruption—reached a hamlet about two miles from Fasso Pisciaro, but the latter village appeared definitely out of danger as the lava channeled away from it.

Man Is Arrested In 'Scarf' Slaying

MONTREAL, (CP)—Police said Thursday that a man identified as Paul Henri Lapiante, 43, was arrested at his home in Ste. Agathe Falls, Que., Thursday and will be brought back to Montreal for questioning in connection with the scarf strangling of Madeleine Desrochers, 25, of Montreal.

4,000 in Madrid Shout for 'King'

MADRID, (Reuters) — Nearly 4,000 people demonstrated in Madrid streets Friday, shouting "We want the king."

The crowd shouted "Long live Juan III." Don Juan is the claimant to the Spanish throne.

The end of the monarchy and the establishment of the second Spanish republic were proclaimed on April 14, 1931.

Seize Ship With 1,350 Jews; Violent Explosion Rocks Haifa

JERUSALEM, (Reuters) — A violent explosion was reported Friday in Haifa, severely damaging a bank in the main street near the railway station.

It is believed one person was killed and several hurt in the explosion.

A Jewish refugee ship, reportedly loaded with 1,350 unauthorized immigrants to Palestine, arrived at Haifa Friday under the guard of British destroyers which intercepted her off the coast.

British authorities immediately cleared the Haifa waterfront of civilians in preparation for deportation of the refugees, but this move was temporarily blocked by a restraining order which the Jewish community council obtained from the Palestine high court.

Sir William Fitzgerald, presiding justice, ordered Palestine authorities to show cause Tuesday why the deportation should be carried out.

Private sources said five refugees had leaped overboard to escape but had been picked up by the navy.

Haifa is where Jews bound for Palestine without permits usually are transferred to new ships and loaded onto British transports to be sent to Cyprus and interned, to wait admission to the Holy Land under the monthly immigration quota of 1,500 Jews.

An Arab source reported Britain, ruling the Holy land by a 1923 League of Nations mandate, had asked her Palestine officials to find out how the Arabs would react if Britain told the United Nations she was willing to withdraw from the Holy Land.

Grant Privileges To British Miners

By Basil Dean

LONDON. — Britain's miners, whose work is the most vital activity in the whole British industrial sphere, have become a privileged class.

Already enjoying extra meat rations, given them several months ago, they secured Thursday night government agreement that prefabricated houses, unrationed food, unrationed clothing, radios, cars, bicycles and textiles, will be sent to miners' communities in large quantities in the next few years.

Fried fish shops serving miners' towns are to get extra rations of fat. Extra supplies have been given a dish dearly beloved by miners. Bakers will get more sugar for making cakes and pastries. Grocery stores will have bigger stocks of canned meats.

Miners' leaders regard these concessions only as a start, however. Their leader, Communist Arthur Horner, says wages must rise further and miners want changes in Britain's system of income tax deduction at source. The government, which owns and operates all British mines, has not made any decision on wages, and Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, will make no promise about reductions in income tax, though he has promised to hear miners' demands in March.

Compared with miners in Europe, British miners' privileges are slight. In the British zone of Germany, Ruhr miners get ration allowances far in excess of very slender German civilian ration (though less than the ordinary British ration). In France, miners have been given a wide range of concessions to stave off effects of the French fuel crisis which has been far worse than Britain's.

However, British miners have a clear edge over other heavy industrial workers, and although there is a feeling of restiveness in other trades concerning concessions granted to coal workers, the action so much off a whole series of de-

One Dies, 11 Hurt as Railway Car Cuts Loose, Plunges Down Mountain

GALLITZIN, Pa., (AP)—The last car of the Pennsylvania Railroad's New York-to-Texas "Sunshine Special" tore loose from the train at the peak of the Allegheries in predawn darkness Friday, careened wildly down the mountainside and plowed into an embankment, killing a pullman porter and injuring 11 passengers.

The crash occurred at Bennington curve, the exact spot where the train was stationary at the time, having stopped outside Gallitzin to take on the two engines used in the tough mountain climb.

Checkers Upset, Divorce Is Sought

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Mrs. Glenna B. Rich, filing suit for divorce, charged that Frederick Edgar, had a "vile and ungovernable temper." She said he upset the checkerboard whenever he saw he was going to lose.

Australian Strikes Said Unwarranted

CANBERRA, (CP)—While Australian coal miners considered calling a general strike, Labor Premier Chifley told parliament Friday strikes are "completely unwarranted in view of the needs of the community."

The prime minister said the government was doing everything possible to establish "a new deal" for the coal industry.

The government recently announced formation of an official board with supreme authority over the coal industry and working conditions of 23,000 miners who produce about 12,000,000 tons annually.

At the moment several thousand miners are idle pending meetings which will decide the question of a general strike. Labor has already increased pay and steps to remove the dust menace and adjust compensation of those suffering from diseases brought on by the dust.

A general strike would soon put out of work an estimated 750,000 workers in other industries and plunge Australian cities into darkness. Coal-powered electric power stations have no fuel reserves.

Coast Guard Takes Schooner in Tow

BOSTON, (AP) — The United States coast guard cutter Legare headed for New Bedford Friday with the disabled Cape Verde packet Lucy and Evelyn, after picking up a life aboard the crippled vessel about 150 miles southeast of Highland Light.

Meanwhile, the cutter Algonquin sought the disabled Boston fishing dragger Hazel B, whose last position was reported as 130 miles south by east of the same light.

There was no report of any suffering among passengers or crew of the packet.

The 374-ton schooner was en route to Fayal, Azores, from Dakar, Africa, when she first became disabled and was towed to Norfolk, Va., about 14 days ago. The vessel was disabled again during the trip north with a crew of 12 and was reported by a passing Boston trawler.

The Hazel B was presumed to have a crew of about 12.

Blast Burns Five In Prince Albert

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)— Five persons were burned, one critically, Thursday when a gasoline lamp exploded in the one storey frame dwelling of Alex Gardippie of Prince Albert.

Most seriously burned is Mrs. Dolina Gardippie whose condition was described by hospital authorities as critical. Others were Alex Gardippie, 47, Emile Gardippie, 18, Alex Gardippie, Jr., two, and an elderly man unidentified.

The house was destroyed by fire.

Wilkinson Death Termed Accident

LONDON, (AP)—A verdict of accidental death was returned Friday in an inquest on Allen Wilkinson, late British minister of education, who was said by her doctor to have been taking three kinds of drugs for asthma and sleeplessness.

Death was due to a heart attack, acute bronchitis and bronchial pneumonia, accelerated by barbiturate poisoning, said Dr. Gordon Stafford, the coroner. He agreed with medical evidences that persons taking multiple pills inadvertently might take an overdose.

SECT TRIALS MARCH 10

MONTREAL (CP)—Hearings will start March 10 of the 1,100 cases involving charges against Witness of Jehovah charged with selling literature without a license or with distributing circulars illegally, officials of the recorder's court said Thursday.

Suggests Washington Assume Commitments

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Britain, her domestic economy near the breaking point, was reported in congressional and diplomatic quarters Friday to have proposed that the United States take over her commitments in Greece on a large scale.

Although there was no White House confirmation, this was understood to have been the subject—at least in part—of a highly secretive White House conference Thursday among President Truman, his diplomatic advisers, and key legislators.

One source said the United States would issue a statement soon on what part, if any, it would assume in helping bolster the shaky Greek government.

(In London, a foreign office spokesman said British and United States discussions were under way in Washington on the problem of continuing the economic and military obligations in strife-torn Greece now borne by Britain.

The spokesman implied one aspect of the talks was the continued provision of foreign currency with which Greece could purchase arms and military equipment.

(The discussions, he added, arose out of the ending, March 31, of Britain's commitment to maintain the Greek armed forces. The same spokesman said he saw no prospects of United States military forces being sent to that country after Britain's forces get out.

(Other government sources said Foreign Secretary Bevin was returning to withdraw Britain's remaining 10,000 troops from Greece within the next few months.)

Laid Before Marshall

It was learned from diplomats in Washington that the whole problem of Greece, together with a report on Britain's waning resources, was laid before Secretary Marshall by Lord Inverchapel, British ambassador to the United States, at a recent conference.

Should the U.S. decide to take over a large share of British commitments in Greece, as well as elsewhere, to help restore Europe's stability, it could well force a complete redrafting of American plans for foreign relief expenditures.

One key phase of relief costs, the problem of feeding occupied Germany, has brought a report to President Truman that Britain's former President Herbert Hoover. After a personal review abroad, Hoover reported to the White House Thursday and went before the house of representatives foreign affairs committee Friday.

The Greek and related Middle East problems, as well as the European relief picture, could have constituted a situation serious enough for such a conference as that held at the White House Thursday. It brought together Marshall, the leaders of both parties in congress, and the chairmen and ranking minority members of the house and senate foreign affairs and appropriations committees.

Curtail Commitments

Should Britain find her resources so strained that it would become necessary to withdraw economic support from Greece, diplomats speculated it was likely she may have to curtail elsewhere commitments based on her post-war policy.

In the background was the still unanswered question: what, if any, bargaining move did Russia have in mind when she gave her quick assent to the American proposal of American trusteeship over the Pacific islands which the United States wrested from Japan?

Hoover was called to present specifically his views on a measure authorizing the expenditure of $350,000,000 for aid in liberated lands where the interests of Russia and the western powers have clashed.

NEW YORK, (CP) — The New York Times said in a Washington dispatch Friday that President Truman and Secretary Marshall have made an "urgent appeal" to congressional leaders Thursday to approve "large sums of money" immediately to save Greece from collapse.

Drowning Threatens 3,000; U.S. Sends Rescue Planes

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., (AP)— The United States army Friday sent a rescue squadron of four amphibian planes winging toward the town of Trinidad, in northern Bolivia, where upward of 3,000 persons were threatened with drowning in tops, roofs and debris in imminent danger of drowning in a flood.

On orders of congressional leaders, the Fifth Emergency Rescue Squadron under command of Capt. Busta M. York took to the air on short notice and sped across the Caribbean sea. Four Catalina flying boats capable of landing in flood waters make up the squadron.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, (AP)—Bolivian diplomats in other American republics have been instructed by instructions Friday to seek immediate aid in the rescue of inhabitants of a city almost entirely deported almost covered by flood waters.

The town of Trinidad is vanishing under the flood waters, and "unless we get help," said a foreign ministry note asking foreign governments to send amphibious planes.

"If the evacuation does not start Saturday 1,200 women and children will perish," said a message from Heraclio Melgar, prefect of Trinidad.

Threatens to Ban Unions in P.E.I.

CHARLOTTETON, (CP) — Premier Jones said here Thursday night that "if we get our backs up we may pass a law outlawing all unions in this province . . ."

The premier's statement was made at a meeting of the Charlottetown Canadian Legion in which he denied that there was any truth in the report that proportionately more veterans had returned to the land in Prince Edward Island than in any other province.

He added, they must all be "prepared for hard work."

"You must forget about this eight-hour stuff," he said.

FIRE AT PEARL HARBOR

PEARL HARBOR, (AP)—A quarter-mile long wooden wharf at Pearl Harbor burst into flame Thursday and indications were that it will be a total loss, running to many thousands of dollars. The cause was not determined.

Think Soviet Has Airborne Army Dwarfing That of Any Other Power

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Russia is believed to have an airborne army in being or in training far surpassing that of any other power.

Information out of Russia indicates, it was learned Friday, that the Soviet Union's strength in airborne troops trained for lightning strikes from the air may number as high as 100,000.

The force compares with the single airborne division—the 82nd—which the United States possesses. That division has an authorized strength of 12,000 men but presumably is below that figure.

Efforts to bring the 82nd nearer authorized strength have been complicated by the use of trained airborne soldiers as elements of occupation forces in Germany and Japan.

Some strategists note that the reported strength of the Russian airborne force may be misleading because of a possible Soviet deficiency in air transportation.

Russia's primary aviation interest during the war was in fighter type planes. She virtually ignored heavy bomber aircraft and, either because of policy or production difficulties, did little transport plane building.

What Her strength in transport today is uncertain.

4,978 - Mile Flight Made in 14½ Hours

NEW YORK, (AP) — The United States army P-82 fighter Betty JO, its fuel nearly exhausted, roared into La Guardia field at 11:06 a.m. E.S.T. Friday, establishing a record non-stop 4,978-mile flight from Honolulu in approximately 14½ hours.

The pilot of the twin-engine fighter, Lt.-Col. Robert E. Thacker, won a daring bid to reach his New York objective by pushing his plane against 65-mile headwinds and low fuel tanks that threatened to bring the Betty JO down in Pennsylvania.

Emergency equipment lined La Guardia field as the plane roared out of a blue sky and landed safely.

Rap Rail Increase For U.S. Losses

OTTAWA, (CP) — Canadian freight shippers should not be asked to make up losses on C.P.R. operations in the United States, C. H. Locke, British Columbia counsel for the railway freight rate case, said Friday before the board of transport commissioners.

Mr. Locke, seeking more information on where the railway was losing money, said the board should know exactly where it was losing lost before it should grant the general 30-percent increase asked by the railways.

Mr. Locke declared in its Maine and Vermont operation the C.P.R. was suffering heavy losses.

F. C. S. Evans, C.P.R. counsel, argued the board should not open an inquiry into regional costs of operation. This would "divide the railway into a lot of little compartments."

"If only unprofitable lines are given increases it would be chaos," he said.

It was "absurd" to suggest rates could be fixed separately "in little pockets of geographical areas." If the board went into this detail, it would broaden the scope of the inquiry to the point where "there would be no end."

The C.P.R. does not plan to "freeze" its freight rates at the 30-percent-plus higher level granted by the Railway Association of Canada, C. E. Jefferson, freight traffic manager, told the transport board. He conceded rates might be lowered again "after very, very careful consideration."

Answering Mr. Locke, Mr. Jefferson said the railway had ordered 1,000 new freight cars during 1946 and 1,800 in 1945. No orders had been placed in 1946 because 1945 contracts, as well as some from 1944, had not been filled.

Natives Hail King As "Rain Maker"

ABOARD ROYAL TRAIN IN CAPE PROVINCE, South Africa, (Reuters) — The royal family left Port Elizabeth Friday in the royal train to resume the South African tour with a visit to Grahamstown, known as the "saints' city" and famous as a stronghold of natives who attacked the early settlers.

The royal party left the train at Alicedale and drove 25 miles through Cape pastoral country to Grahamstown.

Nine thousand natives, in varied European and native costumes, cheered the King as he was "the bringer of rain" when the royal party arrived at Grahamstown. The first rain for three months fell Friday on the town, where water shortage is acute.

Two Canadians Get Life Imprisonment

BUFFALO, (CP)—Two Canadians Friday were sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of a Buffalo cigar store keeper last November. They had been convicted earlier this month.

The youths were Robert Burd, 18, of Crystal Beach, Ont., and John W. Hocking, 17, of Port Erie, Ont.

Railways Ordered Cut Grain Rates

OTTAWA. (CP)—The board of transport commissioners, in a judgment handed down Thursday, ordered Canadian railways to reduce freight rates to their former level on grain and grain products moving from the west and to shipping points in eastern Canada.

The rates were increased by the board last July 31.

The board said the advanced rates had not been authorized, had been protested by interests in the prices board, and were published on less than statutory notice. For these reasons the board has now directed to restore the rates previously in force.

Urges U. S. to Pay For German Food

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Herbert Hoover recommended in President Truman Thursday that the United States pay $475,500,000 for food for German civilians during the next 15 months beginning last Jan. 1 as an essential requirement to peace and order in the western world.

He urged that this sum not be an "interim appropriation" and that it be stipulated in all peace arrangements that the money be repaid from any German government exports "before any other payments to other nations of any kind." Such repayments thus would come ahead of reparations.

After discussing with President Truman his investigation of relief needs in central Europe, Hoover told newsmen there is "real cold" in northern and central Europe, with canals and rivers frozen and railroads still demoralized from the war.

Remanded on Charge Of Manslaughter

BASSANO, Alta., (CP)— Rene Deschamps, Bassano ranch foreman, knocked down Arthur Lloyd Sturm, 20, and kicked him to death on the head on the sidewalk, two small boys testified at the preliminary hearing in Bassano of a manslaughter charge against Deschamps.

Deschamps was remanded to a higher court for trial and released on $7,500 bail. Tuesday a coroner's jury brought in a verdict that Sturm had died from brain injuries received after a fight with Deschamps in Bassano, Feb. 16.

Sixty Hurt As Two-Car Interurban Tram Hits Two Street Cars, Two Automobiles In Vancouver

Sixty persons were injured, but none seriously, when a two-car interurban tram cage thundering out of the Hastings st. station in Vancouver, colliding with a taxi, two street cars and another auto to leave this wreckage. Many persons narrowly escaped death in the mishap, but only two, the interurban motorman and a taxi-driver, were detained in hospital. A short circuit which sent a 500-volt current through the motorman's body and "froze" him to the controls was blamed for the accident, described as "utterly amazing" by officials of the British Columbia Electric Railway. In a matter of seconds 130 tons of metal and wood were tangled in a mass or wreckage. Three living, smashed street cars are shown in this photo, one of the interurban cars at the left.

Deny Compulsory Marketing Of Coarse Grains Planned

OTTAWA, (CP)— C.C.F. members of the commons lost in efforts Thursday to have the Canadian Wheat board made the sole marketing agency for coarse grains as well as wheat.

The attempts were made during study of a bill that will continue the wheat board as the sole wheat marketing agent until after the 600,000,000-bushel, four-year wheat contract with the United Kingdom ends in 1949.

The bill provides the government may, by order-in-council, give the board power to buy coarse grains but not to compel their delivery. Hugh Castleden (C.C.F., Yorkton) moved an amendment that would have put coarse grains on the same footing as wheat, but W. H. Golding, committee chairman, ruled the amendment out of order.

Under questioning of A. L. Smith (Prog. Cons., Calgary West), Justice Minister Ilsley said he could not speak for the government but that he, personally, was opposed to the compulsory marketing of coarse grains by the wheat board. Agriculture Minister Gardiner said he was opposed to putting such compulsory powers in the bill.

Wheat was mainly an export product, Mr. Gardiner said, and coarse grains mainly were marketed domestically. He did not believe the farmers generally wanted the board to market oats and barley.

Trade Minister MacKinnon announced Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner to Britain, will head the Canadian delegation to the international wheat conference in London March 18.

By Richard Sanburn

OTTAWA— For the fourth day the commons Thursday plowed heavily through the provisions of the Wheat Board act, its relations to the United Kingdom wheat contract and farm marketing in general.

Opposition Leader Bracken and his followers probed at the government, trying to find something to support a strong Progressive-Conservative suspicion that even among the members of the advisory committee of the wheat board there had been opposition to the British contract.

Trade Minister MacKinnon and Agriculture Minister Gardiner admitted nothing of the sort. There had been free discussion, possibly differences of opinion, but the terms of the contract had been finally approved and that was all that mattered.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the government would announce its policy in respect to coarse grains after it had heard the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, and after it had evolved a policy as a result of what the federation had to say. He would hesitate to "even forecast" what might be the result of such deliberation.

"Socialism in our time," was the brand placed upon the government's Wheat Board act in the house by one of its own members, Leslie Mutch, Winnipeg South.

Police Fail Find Two Mining Men

SCHREIBER, Ont., (CP)— The deep snows covering the Cook's lake mining district near here retained any clues they might hold concerning the disappearance last Christmas of Edward Grant and Mike Duchesne. Police officers returned here Thursday after a search of several hours, still lacking definite information about the missing men.

(The Toronto Star in a Port Arthur dispatch quoted police as saying the two men had been shot to death last Christmas and that Grant had been robbed of $1,000.)

Insp. Frank Kelley of the Ontario provincial police told the Canadian press Thursday night that he was not even sure the men were dead "although there are highly suspicious circumstances to be taken into account."

Insp. Kelley said a man identified as Charles Marsin, at present being held by Regina police on a false pretences charge, would be brought to Port Arthur for questioning in connection with the missing men.

"Marsin was associated with Grant and Duchesne and was known to have been at the Antelope mine off and on both before and after Christmas," the inspector said.

"A search was conducted throughout the area where the Antelope mine is located by Const. Harry Dickley and Ivor Lelluva but no trace of either Grant or Duchesne was found. This was their last known location.

"The possibility still existed that Grant and Duchesne had left Schreiber for other points without leaving any forwarding address, Insp. Kelley added. "I can't see anything to justify a definite murder claim at this time."

Predicts Prices Will Drop As Production Soars in U. S.

By Peter Ingis

WASHINGTON — The U.S. has the choice this year of continued high production, employment and presumably prices, or of "some decline" in all three.

The office of temporary controls which President Truman set up some time ago to handle tag ends of the work of discontinued wartime agencies is betting on the former.

It's reason; the probability of labor peace.

The forecast is contained in a special report entitled "Production Outlook, 1947."

Specifically the report prophesizes a gross national production of $200,000,000,000 or $10,000,000,000 more than last year; an increase in wage rates during the spring; a drop in farm produce prices; an increase in building; more consumer durable goods, especially cars and household equipment" for at least a good part of the year."

It expects the output of consumer durable goods will exceed that of 1940-41, the highest in history.

It forecasts automobile production of 5,000,000 units, nearly 2,000,000 above last year, and "approximate balance of supply and demand by year's end," in textiles and clothing.

As for prices, "the crucial question for 1947 is whether the readjustment in the price structure will come mainly through a decline in the prices of those commodities which have risen much more than the average or chiefly through a further rise in those prices that have lagged" — in other words, whether living costs will level down or up.

Again optimistic, the report guardedly forecasts the former, with the possible exception of building materials.

Only fly in the balm of this business estimate, which is in general somewhat more soothing than that of industrial spokesmen, is the admission that there will be continuing shortages of some critical materials notably copper, tin, lead and aluminum.

$6,101,352 PROFIT

WINNIPEG, (CP)— Manitoba's liquor profits for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1946, were highest in history, showing a net profit of $6,101,352, an increase of $1,721,242 over the previous year.

Plan Air Supply B. C. Fire Crews

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Groups of fire suppression crews, to be employed in high risk areas in British Columbia forests, will be used to fight costly forest fires again this summer, it was learned Thursday.

The groups organized last year, proved invaluable in quick first-action fire fighting last year and have now been incorporated in the provincial preventive service.

The men will be supplied by air, by use of American army style nylon parachutes, and will be equipped with 25-pound radio packets, diverted from captured German equipment by the dominion government.

Manitoba Plans Pensions Increase

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Blind and old age pensions will be increased from the maximum of $25 a month now paid Manitoba residents, Premier Garson disclosed in the legislature Thursday. Amount of the increase was not indicated.

War Fliers Head Peacetime Force

OTTAWA, (CP)—A cursory inventory of R.C.A.F. headquarters indicates the brass hat, a lurking intangible in the minds of military critics, is in imminent peril of destruction.

If he ever did exist, he has been replaced by the first Canadian to fly over Germany in the Second Great War, by the man who saved Ceylon, by the man who had completed two tours of operations, had two decorations and was a combat wing commander at 22, by these and many more now back from the wars.

These are some of the young veterans now working behind desks at headquarters.

One of the better-known fighter aces is Sqdn. Ldr. R. W. (Buck) McNair, D.S.O., D.F.C. and two bars, of Springfield, N.S. and North Battleford, Sask.

Bagged 16½ Planes

McNair, now helping set up fighter squadrons, destroyed 16½ enemy aircraft before burns brought eye injuries which grounded him. He shot down four planes in one day over Malta, once gifted a mainpost Spitfire a record 30 miles from France back to Britain, twice parachuted into the English channel.

Wing Cmdr. W. H. (Bill) Swetman, D.S.O., D.F.C. of Ottawa, supervisor of air cadet squadrons, at 23 was a wing commander commanding the famous Thunderbird bomber squadron, had made two tours of 53 trips over Germany and had been twice decorated.

A veteran of 82 operational trips, and 11 years service with the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Wing Cmdr. Fred Lambert, D.S.O., D.F.C. of Saskatoon and Vancouver, is director of intelligence. He fought both Japanese and Germans, shot down five Nazi planes from a Mosquito intruder.

Pathfinder Pilot

Sqdn. Ldr. Howie Morrison, D.S.O. D.F.C. of Ottawa and Winnipeg, a member of the celebrated pathfinders for two bomber tours, once held a violently-shattered plane in the air long enough for his crew to bail out, then got out himself on a dangerously low level. He now helps plan the post-war force with an eye to auxiliary squadrons.

His navigator in that fateful flight Flt. Lt. L. W. Queale, D.F.C. and bar, of Ottawa and Victoria, is also at headquarters, working on the development of clothing.

Group Capt. W. I. Clements, O.B.E., of Ottawa and North Devon N.B., was the first Canadian pilot to fly over Germany in the recent war, later commanded the City of Winnipeg squadron. He now directs postings and careers, guides the progress of 12,000 officers and airmen.

One of the personnel staff is Sqdn. Ldr. L. J. Birchall, O.B.E. D.F.C., of St. Catharines, Ont., the man who spotted a Japanese invasion fleet heading for Ceylon and warned the Royal Navy, who later won note for his courage while a Japanese prisoner.

URGE HOUSING CONTROL

Unless the government takes over control of housing, people in Belfast will be without sufficient homes for the next 50 years, legislators of Northern Ireland claimed, in urging action. Dance halls are being built and movie theatres constructed by men who should be building homes, it was said. It was proposed to borrow $20,000,000 from the British government to provide subsidies of £2,000 a house for 10,000 houses a year.

Where Does Roof End and Wall Begin?

An onlooker symbolizes the problem facing a superior court in San Diego, Calif., in a dispute between a contractor and an A.F.L. painters' union over the painting of Quonset huts at Camp Pendleton. The court must decide whether roof painters, who are entitled to use spray guns, can spray right down to the ground, or whether they must give way to wall painters who are restricted to brushes. And if so where does the roof end and the wall begin?

Asks Reserve for Nordegg Indians As Protection Against White Men

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA, — Speedy action on the part of the government is essential before the homes and lands occupied by about 100 Stony Indians in the Nordegg area "pass into the hands of some white exploiter who wishes to build a tourist camp," John Laurie, secretary of the Indian association of Alberta, has reported to the Indian affairs branch of the department of mines and resources.

This information was disclosed to the commons Thursday by Secretary of State Gibson in a return tabled for F. D. Shaw (B.C., Red Deer).

Mr. Laurie advanced, in support of the suggestion to set aside a reserve for these Indians, their moral right to live, a right, he stated "sometimes overlooked in this region."

He also believed the recent extension to the Morley reserve to provide for these Indians was inadequate.

Mr. Laurie did not think the government should establish an official in their midst. "All they require is a combined teacher-missionary-dispenser and a continuation of the present arrangements for rations and medical and hospitalization services, at Nordegg."

Mr. Laurie's report, forwarded by G. H. Gooderham, inspector of Indian agencies for Alberta, states the land held by the Indians along the North Saskatchewan river has been occupied by them since around 1885. And it was the site of the winter camp of the Stoneys as far back as the days of Anthony Henry and David Thomson.

The Indians are living mainly in the area which will be between the river bank and the probable route of the proposed David Thompson road.

Bribes are Accepted Fare On Warsaw-Prague Train

By Ross Munro

PRAGUE, (CP)—Present-day European travel can lead to many irritations but the supreme experience in exasperation is promptly provided an unwary traveller on the "Orient express" running between Warsaw and Prague.

Unless you take special precautions to obtain the right sort of currency, this train trip develops into a nerve-wracking word-battle with the danger of being thrown off the train in sub-zero weather at some Polish or Czech hinterland town because you can't pay your fare.

Going to Warsaw, you can only buy a ticket from Prague to the Polish frontier—halfway to your destination. So when the "Orient express" begins to wind through Poland, a tough-faced Polish conductor demands the fare for the 200 miles from the border to Warsaw.

You confidently pull out a book of travellers cheques you've used all over western Europe but he scorns them. The argument begins.

A sly look comes over his face. Have you American dollars? He will give a very good black market rate. No, you haven't dollars. You haven't any Polish zloty either for none could be bought in Prague.

Then comes the ultimatum: you get off at the next stop with your baggage.

You finally pass 200 cigarettes to the conductor and that he asserts, is good for the next 100 miles.

You relax for three hours, with only two minor arguments with the conductor and then he is back with another ultimatum. You pay the fare, he says, or you get off at the stop ahead.

At this point, you offer him two British pounds you've hoarded for a special emergency. So you are entitled to another 100 miles. Three more packs of cigarettes take you within hopeful distance of Warsaw and you borrow 500 zloty from a Czech traveller for the last leg.

Only Rye, Scotch Rationed in B.C.

VICTORIA, (CP)— All liquor rationing, except for rye and Scotch ended in British Columbia Friday.

W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the liquor control board, announced today that all beers, ales, wines, both domestic and imported, brandies and rums would be ration free.

Egoist

A Welshman who was very proud of his bass voice was describing a wonderful dream he'd had.

"It was in a mighty choir," he said. "5,000 sopranos, 5,000 altos, 5,000 tenors—all singing together douzie forte."

"It must have been wonderful," said the listener. "But what about the basses?"

"That was it!" said the dreamer. "Suddenly the conductor stopped the choir and, turning to me, said: 'Not quite so loud in the bass, please, Mr. Jones!'"

Brantford Marks Bell Centennial

BRANTFORD, Ont., (CP)—Site of the old Bell homestead and of the impressive Bell Memorial, Brantford takes first place among world celebrations Monday of the centennial of the birth of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone and other devices.

Melville Bell bought his son Alexander here from Edinburgh in 1870. The son already had become interested in transmission of sound and in elocution and music—while a young master in Scotland he constructed a talking dummy, and taught a terrier to become the first "speaking dog." The dog's masterpiece was "Ow ah oo ga ma ma" which could easily be interpreted by sympathetic listeners as "How are you, Grandpa?"

It was in September, 1875 that Bell wrote out patent specifications for his theoretical telephone while on holiday at the Bell homestead here from his teaching job at Boston. In March, 1876, when Bell was back in Boston, the first recognizable sentence was heard over the telephone. It was entirely accidental, Bell having spilled some acid over his clothes. He shouted: "Mr. Watson, come here—I want you."

Heard Distinctly

Thomas A. Watson, an electrician who collaborated with Bell on his greatest invention, came running from the next room, his face radiant as he told Bell he had heard every word distinctly over the instrument they had dubbed a "telephone."

In 1876 the new invention caused a sensation at the Philadelphia Centennial exhibition.

Bell later bought property near Baddeck, N.S., where he died in 1922.

Big doings are planned here Monday, while the occasion also will be observed in the United States and in Edinburgh.

Make Broadcast

In the old Bell homestead, now a national museum, a special commemoration broadcast will be made. Officials of the government and of the Bell Telephone company, and other leading citizens will take part.

Prime Minister King will read an address to those attending the centennial dinner at a Brantford hotel Monday night, and it will reach the guests by telephone while being broadcast. Mrs. David Fairchild, daughter of the inventor, will speak—by telephone of course—from her home in Florida. A guest at the dinner will be J. A. D. McCurdy, associate of Bell's in his later research work and pilot of the first plane flown in the British Empire—built by a group founded by Bell.

Teachers' Strike

All the schools of Buffalo are closed because the 2,500 teachers in that city have gone on strike for a fair living wage.

This cannot be regarded as a local problem, peculiar to Buffalo and other American communities undergoing the same experience. It is a symptom of a continent wide movement to provide teachers with financial returns commensurate with their services.

The circumstances which have provoked this educational disaster in Buffalo exist also in Alberta. No one anticipates a teachers' strike in this province. Indeed, the processes of education are so vital that nothing could excuse or justify their interruption. But the same justifiable resentment that moved the Buffalo teachers to strike is felt by teachers in Alberta.

What Alberta taxpayers must begin to ask themselves is this:

Aside from all questions of moral and economic right, which are strongly on the side of the teachers, can this province afford to pile up discontent among the teachers by withholding from them a wage compatible with the place they fill in the democratic structure?

Under a form of government which depends for its effectiveness upon public enlightenment, the ultimate cost of such discontent and dissatisfaction is bound to be infinitely more than the cost of raising teachers' salaries to a fair level.

They Chose Crime—Why?

Evidently Vancouver did not start the civic clean-up any too soon. Two policemen were shot dead and a third wounded, one of the murderers was killed and a second wounded, in a gun battle on a public street in broad daylight. The third "bandit" was captured.

There were no warrants out for these men. The police were not trying to arrest them. The officers only wanted to question them, because they had been seen putting on masks in a car in front of a bank; the presumption being that they intended to rob the place.

The killing of the policemen was wanton. There was no need for it. Their assailants were not facing terms in jail or the penitentiary. They had not committed a crime which carried any circumstantial evidence to show that they planned to commit one. Rather than be questioned they shot down the three officers in cold blood. And the inference is they would have shot down others if one of them had not been killed and a second disabled.

These could not have been hardened criminals, in the ordinary sense of the term. They were not old enough. One of the two in custody is only nineteen years of age, the other only seventeen. They had not been long enough on leave become "old hands" in crimes of violence, though likely they had been "bad boys."

It is a particularly atrocious case with which the courts will have to deal. Murder entails the extreme penalty of the law. But killing a police officer involves something more than the deliberate taking of a life. It is an act of open rebellion against society, and against law without which civilized society could not exist.

Why did these young men, with life and unbounded opportunities before them, choose to make themselves criminals, at the risk of forfeiting life itself? What background of mental twist, heredity, family conditions, or social environment caused or influenced them to turn to crime? These are questions which may be answered as the trial proceeds.

A "Taxicab Racket"

Mayor Harry D. Ainlay has informed the city council that what is described as a "taxicab racket" is developed in Edmonton. The mayor reports that two cabs and licenses had been sold for $7,000. Another alderman reported that three cabs and licenses had been sold for $10,500.

This traffic in taxicabs and licenses for it is the license which has attained such inflated value, is due to the shortsighted action of the council in setting a limit on the number of licenses issued. The restriction of taxi licenses is an unjust invitation for such practices. It merely creates an artificial commodity in which profit-minded men are sure to speculate.

This artificially created evil will require more and more vigilant control until the limitation of licenses in Edmonton is abandoned.

Members of the council have pointed out that the limit on licenses is only maintained for the purpose of protecting the investments of returned men in taxicab businesses. But what about the other returned men who also want to get into the taxicab industry? What about the thousands of returned men who want proper service when they need to ride in them?

If taxicab licenses are limited with the idea of protecting the investments of returned men, all it succeeds in doing is to create a monopoly for a few returned men while the others stand and wait.

The whole principle of the restrictions is unsound. It is ruining taxicab service in Edmonton. And council is now told it has brought a black market into existence.

The Dollar's Value

The consumer in the United States now has to pay one dollar for what he could have bought for 66 cents in January of 1941. The labor department at Washington is the source of this statement that the buying power of the dollar has shrunk one-third.

This is of course is the average shrinkage. The dollar is worth less than 66 cents for buying some commodities, and worth more in other cases. But "across the board" of family requirements its purchasing power is one-third—a bit less in fact—what it was six years ago.

That is how inflation works. As prices go up the buying power of the dollar goes down. The two phrases mean the same thing. But it is easier to sense the meaning when the effect is stated in terms of the reduced value of money. Everybody can understand that instantly, fit the formula to his own circumstances, and get a clear picture of what a general price increase has done to his financial position.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics would do a real service if, along with its regular reports on percentage changes in the cost of living, it translated these changes into their effect on the buying power of the dollar. To say the price average has risen one per cent is not nearly so impressive as to say that the dollar is worth a cent less at the above.

A wage-earner or a salary-earner, for example, has a rather hazy notion of what difference it makes to him if the cost of living advances a point. But he sees clearly enough what happens when he is told that the pay envelope this week will be worth so many cents less than the one he got last week or the week before.

It Could Double Production

One-third of the industries in Britain will have to shut down in the daytime and operate at night. This is by order of the Government. The aim is to cut down the peak day load on electric generating plants and spread the demand for current over a greater number of hours.

The order will not be popular among industrial workers. Men prefer to work days and sleep nights as their ancestors have done since time began. When the bread-winner has to go to work at night the whole family is affected. The companionship of husband and wife is interfered with, the children see their father only for an hour or so in the early evening.

This domestic dislocation and personal inconvenience is another penalty imposed by circumstance. But economically it may turn out to the great advantage of the nation. It may even introduce the two-shift system as common practice in factories. After all, machinery is underproducing when it stands idle half or more than half of the twenty-four hours.

England may be at the beginning of another industrial revolution. It almost certainly is if men are found willing to work at night, despite the disadvantages. The logical outcome would be general adoption of a two-shift system when power again becomes plentiful. And Britain needs all its factories can produce.

Don't Scoff Yet

The finding of an "oasis" of unfrozen lakes and bare hills in the heart of the Antarctic ice field rates the most spectacular discovery of the Byrd expedition. The legendary "tropical valley" in our own northland now has a rival for the interest of romantic arm - chair adventurers.

That of itself the "oasis" will be of practical importance is doubtful. But laymen must not scoff any more at the potential value of any new discovery. The scientist has put such sneers under discount. The fact that the world learned of this new find within an hour or so sufficiently illustrates that point. Maybe he will turn this polar warm spot to account for all anyone knows.

The suggestion that an observation party might be able to live there in comfort from one summer to another, carry on exploratory work and make weather records, will not be widely alarming. Volunteers are not likely to form a line when applications are called for. Life in so isolated a spot would have more disadvantages and uncertainties than attractions.

Anyway, the "oasis" will not be tenanted during the winter now beginning in that latitude, unless by penguins. If Admiral Byrd wanted to leave a garrison in the outpost—which has not been reported—he failed to find anyone who would stick when the whole expedition fleet is on the way home, all personnel aboard.

But it will not do to say the outpost will not be manned some winter by a staff of observers. Men do just as unusual things in the interests of science or curiosity. And sometimes they bring back information that turns out to be useful. Despite remoteness, and a few other drawbacks, that ice-fringed "oasis" may help to shape some important factors in the like of mankind in days to come.

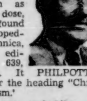
Opium Quote Found

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

Mr. Hamish Duff, 19 Montgomery Avenue, Timmins, Ontario, has tracked down the quotation by Charles Kingsley about religion as the opium of the people. Thus he wins the five dollars. He writes:



"Verification of your statement that Charles Kingsley wrote of religion as the opium done, is to be found in Encyclopedia Britannica, fourteenth edition, page 639, volume 5. It PHILPOTT comes under the heading "Christian Socialism."

"The sentence reads 'they proposed a journal named Politics for the People in 1848 in which Kingsley wrote the famous phrase about religion being 'an opium dose for keeping beasts of burden quiet while they were being loaded—a mere book to keep the poor in order."

According to a Marxian writer in the Pacific Tribune, Karl Marx wrote about opium of the people five years before Kingsley did. Here is the full saying by Marx:

"Religious misery is, in one breath, the expression of real misery and, in another, is a protestation against real misery. Religion is the moan of the oppressed creature; the sentiment of a heartless world, as is the spirit of spiritless conditions. It is the opium of the people."

The critic who first challenged my attribution of this statement to Charles Kingsley wrote:

"The Criticism of Hegelian Philosophy of Right was published in the Franco-German annuals of which Marx was editor with Arnold Ruge. Only one issue of the journal was published—in 1844—and Marx's essay was probably written in 1843."

* * *

I TAKE IT that the year given above (1884) is a misprint and that 1844 is meant. But in any event it seems highly improbable to me that Charles Kingsley borrowed the phrase from Marx. The Encyclopedia says that only one issue of this Deutsch-Franzoschie Jahrbucher ever appeared (presumably in 1844). This was written in German. It is therefore most improbable that young Kingsley had ever heard Marx's phrase, written in an obscure journal, in a foreign language, when he (Kingsley) wrote about religion and opium.

* * *

I FOUND out much that I did not know about both Marx and Kingsley as a result of this friendly controversy.

Kingsley has been read by a vast number—but not for what he wrote about economics or politics. His classic adventure book "Westward Ho!" is still a steady seller.

I found out also that Marx was not Jewish in religion, as his father had the whole family baptized as Protestants. He wrote that the social emancipation of the Jews could only be achieved together with the emancipation of society from Judaism, that is, commercialism."

My friend, Dr. William Gibson of the Montreal Neurological Institute, has an original manuscript by Karl Marx in his possession. It has never been published either in German (as written) nor in translation.

* * *

IT CLEARLY shows that young Marx had, in his teens, been rather strongly attracted towards the Christian religion, and had thrown it overboard after reading the destructive criticism then being published by the leading theological big-wigs of Germany.

Kingsley, like Marx, saw how religion was abused to make the poor complacent. But he considered religion should be purified —harnessed to social advance. Marx argued that religion should be abandoned.

Facts About Nahanni Area

Editor, Bulletin—In your issue of the 20th inst., I notice a syndicated article: "Head Hunters and the Spirits Prove Almost Invisible," written by Pierre Berton of the Vancouver Sun, wherein he makes the following statements:

"The man who can take the credit—or the blame—for much of the Nahanni legend is Philip Godsell, FRGS a former Hudson's Bay man, and author of several books on the North. Godsell wrote a lurid tale called "Dead Men's Gold" for Scarlet and Gold, the RCMP Annual, which later appeared in his book 'Romance of the Alaska Highway,' published in 1944.

Godsell's main fault, outside of the obvious one of exaggeration—is that he has collected every conceivable tale about the Nahanni area and deposited the whole works in one valley.

Waterfalls, canyons, tropical foliage, hotsprings, headhunters, cliff dwellers, prehistoric beasts and what have you, as well as a variety of headless skeletons have all been crammed cheek by jowl into this overcrowded vale."

Yet, in this same article, the aforementioned gentleman makes the statement that "Headless Valley" is in reality a two hundred mile stretch of mountainous country covering three rivers, several valleys, a dozen assorted creeks, both cold and cold, three canyons and one waterfall!

* * *

NOW I WOULD like to point out that had Mr. Berton read with even the slightest degree of care my articles and stories on Dead Man's Valley—"Headless Valley," to use the recently coined term unknown to any Northerner—he would have realized that, instead of covering one small valley, the locale of my writings on the subject cover the region from Fort Resolution and Fort Simpson west to Fort Nelson, south to Fort St. John, B.C., and north to the headwaters of the Flat River, an area of some 22,000 square miles. Only one incident—the murder of Frank and Willie McLeod—is allocated to Dead Man's Valley.

Furthermore, I would defy Mr. Berton to show any single instance in any of my narratives where I have referred to head hunters or even implied such an absurdity as to the possibility of their existence. Obviously where any headless skeletons were found the absence of the head was due to the activities of predators—wolves, coyotes or foxes. I did refer to an Indian superstition regarding the supposed race of Trogiodytes, fear of which kept them from hunting in that region. This superstition not only exists amongst the Slavey Indians but also in certain areas of British Columbia, and has been referred to from time to time in Pacific Coast papers. Some years ago Mr. Wilson purported, through an article in Liberty magazine, to prove their existence in British Columbia.

* * *

AS FOR the "Tropical Valley," I completely debunked its existence in my first article and stated that, in his unsuccessful attempt to re-locate Dead Man's Valley and the Lost McLeod Mine in 1928, Charlie McLeod, brother of Frank and Willie—first two victims of the so-called "Curse of the Nahanni"—had stumbled across the "legendary Tropical Valley" which proved to be similar to other valleys found in various parts of the Northwest, including Alaska, and comprised merely a number of volcanoes and hotsprings.

I might mention that I first came into contact with the lost McLeod Mine in 1913 when I was commissioned by Attorney-General Bowser of British Columbia to institute inquiries amongst the Indians of Fort St. John, where I was then living, into the reported disappearance of the McLeod boys. I happened to be held captive by outlaw Indians. Later, as inspecting officer for the Hudson's Bay Company I made my headquarters at Fort Simpson, covered that region the hard way—by dog-team and snowshoe and canoe—and acquired my information on the Nahanni country and its legends and traditions through intimate contact with Fred McLeod, Hudson's Bay factor at Fort Liard (brother of Frank and Willie), as well as from trappers, traders and other residents of the country, to say nothing of the Indians with whom I was in close contact through being able to speak their language fluently.

* * *

AS TO THE caves, so airily dismissed by Mr. Berton, I'd like to inform him that Ed Clausen reported the discovery of one of these caves to me, stating that it had been chiselled from the living rock by human hands. He added that all he found within were dried droppings of mountain goats, and certainly made no reference to bottles or other prehistoric household utensils. According to reports appearing in the press, Dr. Wesley Bliss of the University of Mexico, headed an expedition into that country the following year and declared that he found two caves carved by human agency which he considered of great ethnological value since they helped confirm the theory regarding the migration of Asiatic peoples to this continent in distant past.

I might also mention that Mr. Berton is in error in attributing the discovery of gold to Frank and Willie McLeod in 1905. The original discovery was made in the summer of 1904 by Willie. The following year the returning with his brother Frank, only to be murdered by an engineer who made up the third member of the party. Willie and Frank McLeod were last seen alive by Forbes Campbell, factor of Fort Nelson, in whose home they travelled from Fort Simpson to Nahanni Butte at the mouth of the South Nahanni, whence they headed up-stream by canoe. This statement was made to me by Forbes Campbell whom I have known for many years.

* * *

I MIGHT add that I have in my possession the only existing and authentic photographs of Frank and Willie McLeod, which I obtained from William Gordon Taylor, the first white child to be born on Great Bear Lake. Following the publication of my article: "Buried in Gold" in Scarlet and Gold, I received a letter from the brother of Martin Eisenstadt, who had landed in my story, the family had at last solved the mystery of their kinsman's death. I was able to give Jorgensen's brother further details concerning the names of the parties who had gone in with Martin to the Flat River and were suspected of his murder.

Mr. Berton says that he "blushes to admit that newspapermen are responsible for enlarging on these stories." I would suggest that he might do a little blushing on his own account in view of his deliberate misrepresentation of my statements.

When I was in the North one of our greatest inflictions was the visitation of people who made a flying trip through the country and, in a few weeks, would aspire to have more knowledge about the country and its people than old-timers who have lived in it for years, pushing back the frontier and laying the stepping stones of civilization.

* * *

ON THE strength of his short aerial flight into the Nahanni region I think it ill-behooves Mr. Berton to sit in critical judgment on those of us who have been for years associated closely and intimately with some of the principal actors in the drama of the McLeod Mine.

As for the authenticity of my work, I have always been particularly careful to state facts, and to quote sources when leg end or folklore was involved, presenting the latter in their proper light—a fact that can be attested to by voluminous correspondence by Mounted Police, Government officials and others who are in a position to speak authoritatively on the North country. Incidentally, His Majesty, King George VI, accepted two of my books as being outstanding works on the Canadian North and Arctic.

Careful Government

By HARPER PROWSE MLA

The Canadian people are probably receiving more careful government today than at any time in their history. The reason for this is that the administration has such a slim balance of power that it would only take the defection of one or two members to bring about their defeat on the floor of the house —which, of course, might lead to a general election.

This situation imposes a great strain on cabinet ministers in particular and all members of the House of Commons generally. I noticed, when I was a spectator in the gallery recently, that most of the members were in their seats. The rest of them, including the cabinet ministers, were within call of the party whips in case a decision, or recorded vote, should be called for. The opposition parties are apparently hoping to catch the Liberals short and even in the few days I was there divisions were called on several occasions.

* * *

THERE IS a tendency, where parties have an overwhelming majority, for the cabinet to tend to run things their own way and to overlook the objections of not only the opposition but of individual members within their own party. Under the present situation at Ottawa the cabinet does not dare to overlook any objections, especially objections from members of their own party.

Under these circumstances legislation must be carefully prepared before it is even submitted to the party caucus and even more carefully scrutinized before being placed before the Commons. Nothing can afford to be arbitrary about even the smallest clause in the least important act. Reasons and explanations of every proposal must be readily available—and must be acceptable. Besides this the government must be prepared to give ground in the face of determined opposition. All of which is good for the governed.

* * *

THE MEMBERS too, forced to stay on deck in case of emergencies, must give particular attention to the legislation placed before them. The opposition, with the possibility of defeating the government ever before them, are kept right on their toes and similarly watchful. This again means that the desires of their constituents must be kept carefully in mind at all times.

With the possibility of an election ever before them, all members, and especially the government, are particularly sensitive to public opinion and the desires of the electorate. For they may not have a long period in which to prepare and pass favorable legislation, or to propose vote-collecting motions.

* * *

ALL, IN ALL the people of Canada should benefit by this condition—although it puts all their representatives under terrific strain and I should imagine that before many more weeks have passed tempers will begin to fray and Hanzard will record many spirited exchanges.

Taxes for Foxes

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

The decision of the Federal Government to guarantee minimum prices for fox pelts came none too soon, for fur farmers have been having a difficult time.

Here in New Brunswick, only about 20,000 animals a year are now being pelted, compared with a former figure of 50,000.

The schedule of minimum prices to be instituted under the Agricultural Products Co-operative Marketing Act ranges from $62.50 for the best grade of platinum fox down to $7 for inferior skins, with a top of $38 for white marked foxes and $30 for silvers. Pelts ranging $35 to mark the fox these days, as the prices which have been set are unlikely to make anybody wealthy.

But the hope is that they will prevent pelts from being dumped and give the market a chance to recover.

The Bulletin's Readers Say:

IS THIS A BET?

Editor, Bulletin—In your issue of Feb. 19, page 11, in an article by Pierre Berton, he states, "I will personally give one hundred dollars to any pilot who will land in Dead Man's Valley in February."

We expect to have a routine charter over this territory during the month of March, and though we do not wish to cast any aspersions against the ability of Pilot Russ Baker, for whom we all have the greatest respect, we do believe that the Yellowknife pilot chosen for this flight would be only too pleased to duplicate this performance for the aforementioned one hundred dollars.

If Mr. Berton really sincere in his offer, we will undertake to furnish proof of a landing in the Valley, said proof in the form of pictures of the locality or any method you might suggest.

Force for Peace

Winnipeg Free Press

Understanding should stimulate the basic work of the United Nations to attain the goals of growth of peace by many different methods, political, economic, educational. These efforts can proceed even if immediate disarmament is unattainable. The real ingredients of peace will be found not in any written agreement but in the daily lives and in the minds of men. Herein lies the great opportunity and the real hope of the United Nations.

See U.N. Approving U.S. Trusteeship

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP) — United States Wednesday night won speedy Russian endorsement on its request for immediate American trusteeship over the strategic Japanese-mandated islands of the western Pacific where Japan mounted her attack on Pearl Harbor, Guam and Wake.

The quick Russian approval and informal expressions from other members of the United Nations security council indicated that the United States would gain eventual approval of its request. The council, however, adjourned further action on it until March 7 so the delegates could consult their governments.

Warren R. Austin, United States representative to the United Nations, formally laid the proposed trusteeship agreement, announced by President Truman last Nov. 6, before the council with a request for action now.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, spoke briefly to record Russia's approval of the principles and main items involved in the United States proposal. He submitted three amendments to the agreement but apparently they would make no vital change in the U.S. plan.

Austin said the United States would observe the provisions of the U.N. charter in administering the vast chain of 98 islands and satellite cluster comprising the Marshalls, Marianas and Carolines.

He said the United States, as sole administering authority, could close the islands when it chose for security reasons and could erect and maintain fortifications.

Cost of Pensions Rising for Years

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA. — While veterans affairs' estimates will be down this year in respect to a number of items, chiefly gratuities and rehabilitation grants, the amount required for pensions will show an increase over last year and will continue to increase for many years.

Judging by what happened with pensions following the First World War, it may be 10 or 14 years before pension payments to veterans of Second World War reach their peak.

At present approximately $37,000,000 a year is being paid to First World War pensioners. Pensions did not reach their peak until 1932. Annual liability for Second World War veterans and dependents is at present more than $31,000,000 a year. This amount will curve upward at a sharp angle during the next few years, but it is difficult to determine when the top will be reached or how high it will be.

It is believed, however, the upward rise will not be as sharp after the first war. The screening of enlistees in the recent war was more thorough. Standards of physical fitness required were higher, field and hospital medical treatment was more efficient. Before members of the forces were discharged they were subjected to examinations generally accepted as more thorough than those which were obtained after the First World War.

Cut 4½ Billions Off U.S. Budget

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Tacitly rejecting any major cuts for the army and navy, the senate voted at 33 Wednesday to slash $4,500,000,000 off President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for the year starting July 1.

JAP CAPTAIN TO DIE

MANILA, (AP) — A Japanese naval captain was sentenced to die before a firing squad and four other officers were condemned to life imprisonment by a United States war crimes military commission Thursday for beheading five American navy fliers in the Celebes Nov. 24, 1944.

Giant German Bomb Dug Out in London

LONDON, (CP) — Like a gigantic iron tooth, "Herman the Horrible," a 1,000-kilogram unexploded German bomb Thursday was yanked out of the ground at suburban Addiscombe by a squad of sappers and German prisoners of war after a night-and-day struggle.

Housewives cheered when the bomb was dragged from a 40-foot shaft to a main road where it was placed on an army truck and moved from the district.

The bomb fell in 1941 and Royal Engineers have been trying to reach it since the war ended.

Battling Canadians Bow to Lethbridge

SPORTS BULLETIN

Both Score in Overtime

Maple Leafs and Elks Play to 6-6 Deadlock

SASKATOON, Feb. 28 -(CP)- Bing Juckes' goal in the last minute of overtime gave Lethbridge Maple Leafs a 6-6 tie with Saskatoon Elks in a Western Canada Senior Hockey League game played here Thursday night.

The result had no bearing on the standings as the Leafs already were assured of third and the Elks of fourth place and each of a berth in the playoffs.

It was Jukes' second goal of the night, but he was surpassed on the offence by Steve Latoski with three counters. Bobby Love supplied the other.

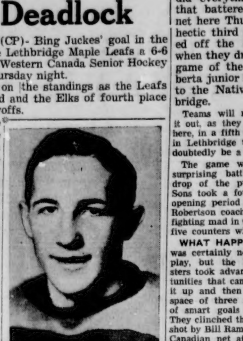
Dave Livingstone and Glen Richardson each bagged two for the Elks with Cy Rouse and Cliff Hulme getting the others.

AFTER 15 MINUTES of listless hockey, Bobbie Love shot Lethbridge into a 1-0 lead on a double passing play with Bing Jukes and George Harrison. Neither club extended itself throughout the period, apparently dodging pre-playoff injuries.

Elks went right after the tying goal as the second period opened and Bill Brennan, Lethbridge goalie made three smart saves in a row. Saskatoon was still pressing when Steve Latoski and Grey broke into the clear, Latoski easily beating Simpson to give Lethbridge a 2-0 lead. Elks finally scored just after the eight-minute mark, Dave Livingstone getting the goal from Jimmy Brennan and Mike Shabaga and only 46 seconds later Elks tied the score, Glen Richardson bagging it on passes from Shabaga and Livingstone. There was no further scoring in the period.

LATOSKI GAVE the Leafs a 3-2 lead early in the third only to have the Elks tie it up again a few minutes later and from there on the score see-sawed with each team taking the lead and losing it. Latoski's goal at 19:27 seemed good enough for the game, but Livingstone sent it into overtime with only seconds remaining.

Hulme's overtime goal for Elks came from a scramble in front of the Lethbridge net and Jukes counter, after some of the best hockey of the night, was from a similar mixup.



WITH FLYERS — Freddy Smitten, out with a broken wrist since early in the season, is expecting to take part in the Stampeder and Lethbridge games this week. He was with the Flyers when they left for Calgary today.

Sons Outplayed But Triumph 7-5 To Tie Series

BY DON KILLIPS
Edmonton Bulletin Sports Writer

LETHBRIDGE, Feb. 28 — Edmonton Canadians literally did everything except plant that battered puck into the net here Thursday night in a hectic third period, but skated off the ice second best when they dropped the fourth game of the best of five Alberta junior hockey final, 7-5, to the Native Sons of Lethbridge.

Teams will now have to battle it out, as they did in both games here, in a fifth and deciding game, in Lethbridge tonight. It will undoubtedly be a thriller.

The game was a fast, rugged, surprising battle right from the drop of the puck as the Native Sons took a four-goal lead in the opening period and then the Earl Robertson coached club came back fighting mad in the second to rap in five counters without a reply.

WHAT HAPPENED in the third was certainly no indication of the play, but the Lethbridge youngsters took advantage of the opportunities that came their way to tie it up and then move ahead in a space of three minutes on a pair of smart goals by Ken Simpson. They clinched the issue with a long shot by Bill Ramsden into an empty Canadian net after Coach Robertson had pulled goalie Johnny Sofiak and threw six players into action over the Lethbridge line.

Canadians started to play cautious hockey at the opening of the third frame in an effort to protect their one-goal margin, but Simpson rifled a shot from about 15 feet out and it was deflected into the net. That put the 3,000 fans, strictly a Lethbridge crowd, into an uproar that almost brought down the rafters.

THE TIEING marker put new life into the Sons and Johnny Sofiak had to be sharp a number of times in the next few minutes, but the break that decided the game came after the Canadians managed to disorganize the Lethbridge attackers and were putting on the pressure. Odie Lowe rifled a fast pass to Simpson at centre ice to catch the Canadians cold and Simpson had a clear break for the Edmonton goal. He made no mistake as he drew Sofiak to the side and slid the rubber in.

Simpson's goal that put his club ahead 6-5 came at the 1:25-minute mark of the last canto, but from then on Canadians hammered almost continuously at the Lethbridge cage.

THE VISITORS bemmed the Sons into their own zone for almost five straight minutes from the nine-minute mark until the 14, but as in the first game here Tuesday night they had trouble hitting the net. Grey hit the post just as the terrific power play started and a few seconds later Leo Lucchini missed the net on a perfect shot.

The game was held up for about two minutes at the 14-minute mark when the big time clock failed to

MAGIC STICK — Marshall Darling, speedy right-winger of the New Method club, was in top form again last night as his team subdued the Grande Prairie Northern Lights 10-3 in the deciding game of the Northern Alberta intermediate final at Camrose. "Marsh" bulged the hemp for three goals and lent a helping hand on another. Captain Louis Holmes also played a big part in the team's success, scoring a goal and making the plays for five others.

Flyers Playing Calgary Tonight

Edmonton Flyers left on the noon train today for Calgary where they play Stampeeders tonight. They go on to Lethbridge for the final game of their schedule Saturday.

With the exception of Stan Deviecq, who is out with the flu, all members of the team are reported in tip-top shape and ready for the two sessions on successive nights.

IN ADDITION to Freddy Smitten, who has been practising regularly lately and is expecting to be in all games from now on, Walter Dutchak also is back with the club. Waller's fractured wrist has come along nicely and Manager-coach Riley Mullen stated last night he was counting on using both players in both games.

Manager Mullen also confirmed semi-final playoff dates. Lethbridge Leafs will be here for March 4 and 6 and Flyers go to Lethbridge for March 8 and 10, coming back to Edmonton for the fifth game, if necessary.

Neutral officials are being used for the playoffs, Danny Cox of Port Arthur being one of the nominees.

NEW METHOD IN ALBERTA FINAL

Junior B Game Saturday Night

Third and deciding game in the best-of-three series between Canadians and South Side for the city Junior "B" title will be played at Varsity rink on Saturday night starting at 8 o'clock.

Canadians

tick. Time was kept without interruption, however and the spell seemed to help the Lethbridge crew which was pretty well tired out.

Canadians resumed their furious attack shortly afterwards and kept hammering at the Lethbridge net.

Sofiak was jerked off the ice as play was going on with two minutes still to go. Canadians were unable to hit the Lethbridge net once as they battled inside the Sons' zone for almost half a minute. Doug Anderson had a real chance with just over a minute to go, but passed to Eddie Marchant on the side instead of shooting. Marchant was stopped before he could yet his shot away, however.

Ramsden clinched the game when he fired from his own blue line right into the empty net with just 17 seconds to go.

Ron Matthews, Canadian defenceman was the only injured player. He received a bodly bruised knee, but after the game Coach Robertson said "he'll be playing in the next game."

BOTH CLUBS battled right from the drop of the puck in the first period in an effort to get the opening goal, but it was the Native Sons who broke the ice first. Odie Lowe made it 1-0 when he intercepted a pass from Mathews and skated right in to whip the rubber past Sofiak.

That first goal, at 9:38, started off a scoring thrust the Canadians couldn't stop during the frame. Bill Ramsden poked the puck into the net for the Sons 19 seconds later after a three-man rush.

Simpson and Lowe each hit the hemp again before the period ended to make it 4-0.

HARRY GROVES, fast skating Canadian winger put the Edmonton crew back into the fight when he rifled home a pass from Mathews and Don Slater at the 3:12 mark of the second canto and then finished off a play with Kirk at 7:27. Don Slater made a sweeping check and knocked the disc right into the net at the 16:15 mark and then Matthews rifled one through a mass of players into the net to tie it up just 40 seconds afterwards. Then Leo Lacchini, after taking a pass from Bob Goodacre, put the Canadians ahead 5-4 less than two minutes from the end of the frame.

Then came the hectic third session and later a disappointment for the Canadians who couldn't have put up a better fight.

Wings' Playoff Hopes Jolted by Leaf Draw

DETROIT, Feb. 28 -(CP)- The second place Toronto Maple Leafs heid the playoff hopeful Detroit Red Wings to a 3-3 tie in a National Hockey League game Thursday night before a crowd of 14,076.

The stalemate left Detroit four points behind the idle New York Rangers and Boston Bruins, currently locked in fourth place.

The first period took honors for tempo, scoring and penalties, with the Red Wings forging ahead 2-1 as six penalties were called—three on each team.

IN THE THIRD period, Bruneteau slid the puck past Broda at 2:55 to put the Wings in the lead, but the count was nullified in a disputed play by Nick Metz, who was credited with a score at 4:00. The goal judge, George Moore, ruled no goal, but referee Chadwick overruled him.

Richard's "Hat Trick" Beats Chicago Hawks

MONTREAL, Feb. 28 -(CP)- As Maurice Richard banged home three goals and assisted on another, Montreal Canadiens battled from behind a three-goal first period deficit here Thursday night to edge the scrappy Chicago Black Hawks 6-5 in a high-flying, fan-stirring National Hockey League fixture.

The game brought the season's record between the two clubs to seven victories for Montreal, two for Chicago and one tie.

The victory increased Montreal's first-place lead over Toronto Maple Leafs to eight points who were held to a 2-2 tie at Detroit.

A WILD CROWD of 11,186 fans saw Hawks getting away fast to a 3-0 lead in the first period, but Canadiens got going with Leo Gravelle making it 3-1 before the period ended, Kenny Reardon assisting.

In a game at times brilliant and at times ragged, but always hectic, the little Hawk goalie had some bad moments and some good ones as he batted out 29 shots Canadiens threw at him. Bill Durnan at the other end had 26 shots to handle as the Hawks virtually out of the play-off race, threw everything they had into a quest for points.

TRUMAN GIVES LEGION OF MERIT TO PRINCE OF SAUDI ARABIA

ENGLISH PLANE CRASHES ON MERCY MISSION TO SNOWBOUND VILLAGE

Copyright, 1947, by Acme Newspictures, Inc.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE PRINCE—Crown Prince Amir Saud of Saudi Arabia gets the Legion of Merit from President Truman. The Prince accepted a similar award for his father, then hopped aboard the President's plane, the Sacred Cow, and flew to London.

FEATHERS COUNT—The wearer just pins the feathers to this hat shown by a New York City model. One for luncheon, two for cocktails, three for dinner, and you're right in style.

A MERCY FLIGHT THAT FAILED—This wrecked Halifax plane was on a mission of mercy when it crashed at Butterton, Eng. Butterton was snowbound, and the smashed containers (foreground) held emergency food rations which were to be parachuted to the villagers. Six persons, including a newspaper photographer, were killed and another cameraman was seriously hurt.

TEARS OF JOY—Mrs. Rachelle Karten weeps for joy—her daughter, Anna, two, just weeps, as they get their first glimpse of New York City through the porthole of the S.S. Ernie Pyle. The Polish mother and her daughter were among the 759 immigrants brought to America by the ship.

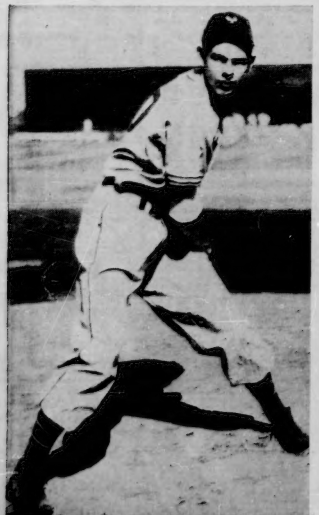
CLOCKED—A bunch of clockmakers got together and picked actress Evelyn Keyes as their "Clock Girl" because of her beautiful "face," graceful "hands," terrific "stems," and wonderful "timing." Worth "watching," they said.

BLOOD DONOR—A short, sharp jab and then it doesn't hurt anymore. Lady (right) gives another batch of her blood. Once a chicken thief, but now happily reformed, Lady is kept at a Minneapolis animal hospital for just such work as this.



FAME IN FEBRUARY, but what will they be saying in July? Big Clint Hartung, the 18-year-old rookie who is expected to set the National League afire this year, winds up and lets a fast one go during Spring training with the Giants at Phoenix, Ariz. He is also rated high as an outfielder and a slugger

AFL-CIO MERGER?—CIO president Phillip Murray (center) is optimistic about the prospects. In Washington he appointed a five-man committee to discuss the possible merger, and, with Walter Reuther (left) and R. J. Thomas, United Auto Workers Union president and vice-president, respectively, called a press conference to discuss the plan.

CHOW DOWN—New York State Troopers get a hurried breakfast in Albany before reporting for duty at the State Capitol. The troopers were ordered to keep demonstrators advocating increased housing and low rents from interrupting sessions of the General Assembly.

Raw Fur Prices Rally in Montreal

MONTREAL, (CP)—A. C. Prentice, general manager of Canadian Fur Auction Sales Company, said Friday that the price and number of furs sold here had increased this month after slumping to a near all time low in January.

At the close of the February auction last night more than 89 percent of the month's stock had been disposed of, Mr. Prentice stated.

Prices received in this sale are back to a level where he believed they would remain for some time. Wild mink skins are up 25 percent over January as are ermine, silver fox and a few other grades. Ranch mink is up 15 while low grade mink showed an increase of 10 percent, as did muskrat. Otter, skunk and miscellaneous furs remained unchanged, Mr. Prentice said.

Three Questioned In Armed Holdup

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—Three men are in police custody here for questioning in connection with the armed holdup of night attendants in the Ontario mental hospital's infirmary at 3.15 a.m. Friday, Chief Constable Elliott announced.

Drugs valued by unofficial sources at $5,000 in the hospital safe were taken from the infirmary dispensary after four attendants had been locked in a small cubicle by three masked, armed intruders.

The stress featured events soon after the theft. Police said they believed others were involved in the crime.

Hydro, Tax Deal Issues in Ontario

TORONTO, (CP)— The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission and possible provincial revenues figure prominently in speculation as the latest issue likely to play a part in the third session of Ontario's 22nd legislature, which opens next Thursday, March 6.

Although Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative cabinet has been swelled to forty by progressives it has been left as in the closing of last session, 3 will have to face a by-election.

Holding 50 of the 90 seats, the Progressive Conservatives dominate the legislature numerically, but opposition Liberals Number 11, and count on support from two Liberal-Labor members. The C.C.F. has eight members, the Labor-Progressives two and there is one Labor man.

Hydro figures in speculation largely because of the resignation of Dr. T. H. Hogg as commissioner-chairman at the request of Premier Drew, who charged the Hydro chairman had not co-operated fully with the government.

Dr. Hogg has declined comment. Political observers suggest his silence may weaken Liberal and C.C.F. attacks on the government on this question.

Interest in the dominion-provincial picture centres largely on the provincial budget and there is speculation this will not be brought down until the dominion budget is presented at Ottawa, Ontario so far has refused to accept dominion offers of subsidies in return for provincial rights in certain tax fields, most important of which are corporation and personal income taxes.

These rights are surrendered by provinces along with other provinces, for the duration of the war but the wartime agreements expire automatically March 31. The budget may make provision for re-imposition of provincial taxes in those fields.

Smiles After Testifying In Jewel Case

Mrs. Martha Evans smiles at her husband, J. R. Evans, after completing her testimony in the trial of Cpl. Jack Durant, charged with participation of the theft of the Hesse crown jewels in Germany. Mrs. Evans said she brought the jewels into this country under diplomatic immunity and said she thought they were "cheap, ordinary junk. . . like anybody might pick up."

Base at Churchill To Be Permanent

By Val Werker

CHURCHILL— This army testing base, tinged with romance of early Arctic explorations, may soon become the testing ground on what history course should be taught to a joint class of Canadian-American pupils.

With the announcement that this joint Permanent U.S. military experimental base will become permanent, comes the promise from Col. D. C. Cameron, commandant, that 50 more families will be brought in by next September to teach children of military personnel only.

There are 336 men on the station, 119 of them American. There are five children with the eight Canadian married couples and the two American couples. It is expected 15 more wives will be moving in, and the number of children at the camp will be about 20.

CHURCHILL, Man., (CP)— It was said on the military base at Churchill Friday as emigrant soldiers from six foreign countries, including Russia, Britain and Norway, were set out to see Canadian life that agriculture and United States experts will study cold-weather tests of their equipment.

The party, members of an expedition sponsored by Canada's defence department to allay Russian fears the northern base is the ideal ground for secret weapons to be used in Arctic aggression, arrived Thursday from Ottawa.

Truman, Congress Relations Strained

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Co-operation between President Truman and the Republican-controlled congress appears to be wearing thin on domestic issues as United States legislators near the end of their second months' work.

Mr. Truman and Republican leaders have maintained outward harmony on foreign affairs, but there are signs a blowup may not be far off on home affairs.

Although he called Republicans as well as Democrats to the White House Thursday for a highly secret discussion on European affairs, not since Feb. 3 has Truman held any meeting with congressional leaders to talk over the legislative program.

Truman is leaving Washington Sunday for Mexico and may be away when congressional committees have completed drafting labor dispute bills. Most legislators think these bills will offer the first big test on co-operation.

Boy Saves Family In Burning House

WEST ST. PAUL, Man. (CP)—Seventeen-year-old Mike Scherba, his face and arms scarred by flames, was acclaimed a hero Friday. Thursday night he carried his invalid mother and five young brothers and sisters to safety when fire swept their two-storey frame dwelling.

The young messenger boy was greeted by flames when he arrived home from nearby Winnipeg. Attempts to smother the fast-spreading blaze proved futile, so he raced to the front room where his mother and brothers and sisters were and began shoving them out through a window.

The fire was believed to have started from a short circuit in the gasoline motor of a battery charger.

Douglas Rejects 'Labor Code' Plan

REGINA, (CP)—Premier Douglas, Thursday rejected a proposal of Opposition Leader W. J. Patterson for a "national labor code" and urged instead minimum labor standards through Canada.

Mr. Douglas said in a legislature debate that the term "national labor code" could mean all or nothing and declared that the C.C.F. government wanted a minimum federal standard which would protect all provinces.

Saskatchewan had urged in previous dominion-provincial conferences that the federal government assume jurisdiction of minimum labor standards.

Reports Eskimos Need Refrigerators

BROCHET, Man. (CP) — The greatest need of Canada's inland Eskimos is not healing aspirin—but refrigeration.

Charles Schweiger, 22, a fur trader from Windy Bay 250 miles north of here, has become convinced an enterprising fisherman would find quite a market for ice boxes in the north country.

The reason, he said, was that Eskimos rely entirely on Caribou for food. Although they slaughter them with spears and knives as the Barren Land reindeer ford rivers on their southward migration, they have no way of preserving the meat.

Divorces in 1946 Record for B. C.

VICTORIA, (CP)—A record in the number of divorces granted in British Columbia during any one year was set during 1946.

The division of vital statistics reported Thursday 1946 divorces totalled 2,004 compared with 1,364 in 1945. In addition to the decrees, there were 35 nullities, seven judicial separations and two dismissals granted. Sixty percent of petitions for divorce were women.

More than half, or 54.6 percent, of the divorces were of childless marriages.

Gas Tanks Explode, 6 Die, 2 Injured

BRISTOL, Tenn. (AP)—Six persons were known dead and two others were injured Thursday when gasoline tanks in a service station exploded with a blast that rocked downtown Bristol.

Three of the dead were identified, and two other unidentified bodies were removed from the wreckage. Bleacher fears said they could see a sixth body inside the fire-seared debris, but had been unable to remove it.

Each of the 1,500 striking Indian foundry workers coming to work on Saskatoon's waterfront will receive $2 per week, lunch and transfer, and his wages. Insurance and other benefits will be those of Britain workers.

But Some Legislation Likely

Government Doubtful Of Insurance Scheme

While the government hopes to introduce legislation at this session which will deal with the problems of compensation for persons killed or injured in accidents, and cover property damage caused by motor vehicles, compulsory automobile insurance had not yet proved itself to be completely satisfactory, Hon. A. J. Hooke, provincial secretary, told the legislature Thursday.

HE WAS SPEAKING in the debate which followed the introduction of a resolution by Elmer E. Roper (CCF Edmonton), which requested the government to institute a system of compulsory insurance for all motor vehicles and their operators.

Mr. Roper stressed the house a copy of an insurance policy which he held on his own car, and listed for the benefit of the house, the insurance coverage thus afforded him. This policy, he said had cost him $47.47 for a period of one year.

He had explored the situation in Saskatchewan, he said, and found

No Action by Committee

Reject Objections to Act

Objections raised in the Alberta Legislature to the proposed system of registration for voting in the cities of Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat have been rejected. The house committee feels, however, that objections raised have not been sufficiently elaborated on to justify the committee changing the original recommendations in this respect.

ON THESE GROUNDS, the committee, appointed to consider amendments to the Alberta Election Act, disposed of the more serious objection to their report made at the 1946 session of the house.

Members of the committee were Hon. Lucien Maynard, KC, chairman; D. D. Jorgenson (SC Pembina) and J. Percy Page (Ind. Edmonton).

The committee was appointed at the 1945 sittings, and in 1946, submitted proposed amendments to the Alberta Election Act, the most contentious of which was a requirement that voters in the cities of the province be required to register in advance of polling day—or lose their franchise.

At the 1946 session, the committee was requested to continue investigations for another year and to report back to this year's session with further recommendations.

ONLY TWO FURTHER changes were suggested by the committee. They are: That the lieutenant-governor proclaim a holiday from 4 o'clock in the afternoon on election-day; that the number of first preference votes required to enable a candidate in the multiple member constituencies to obtain return of his deposit be reduced from one quarter to one fifth of the quota, as determined by the election act.

Glenora Show Big Success

Poetry and Charm Of Skating Stars Thrills Big Audience

The poetry and charm of the skating art at its best captivated more than 6,000 Edmontonians at the Arena Thursday night as the annual ice show of the Glenora Figure-Skating club got away to a triumphant start. The show will continue with performances Friday and Saturday.

THE GLENORA CLUBS cast of well-trained, highly talented skaters, ranging from delightfully nonchalant tots of five and six years of age to long time favorites in the senior ranks, was well buttressed for the 1947 presentation by a glittering array of top-notch talent from the United States, some of the best in the way of amateur and professional talent to ever perform in the arena.

The sparkling performance opened at top speed from start to finish.

In costuming Mrs. Bunty Sutherland Staley, designer and director of ballet, and Mrs. L. Basil Hewetter, assistant chairman of costumes committee, showed a free stroke, as costumes this year surpassed anything seen in the many years that annual Glenora Club shows have been pleasing the Edmonton public.

TO NAME THE STARS of the show is difficult and possibly unfair. The entire cast performed just about to perfection in the ice

Thousands Unable To Get Telephones

More than 4,000 unfilled requests for telephone service were in the hands of officials of the Alberta Government Telephones at the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1946, according to a report in the annual statement of the telephone department, tabled in the legislature Wednesday by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of telephones.

IN THE REPORT, W. D. Bruce, deputy minister of telephones, stated that this back-log of unfilled orders was caused by the lack of equipment.

The telephones showed an operating surplus of $1,154,881, compared with a surplus for the previous year of $1,087,836.

Of this amount for the year reported on, $669,051 was placed in the deficit fund, after allowances for depreciation had been made and an additional contribution to the pension fund forwarded.

FLT. LT. J. B. BARNES

Air Hero Given Operation Wing

Operational wings for gallant services with the RCAF overseas have been awarded posthumously to Flt.-Lt. John Benjamin Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Barnes, 11910 93 street, who was killed in action March 24, 1945. He was one of a family of three brothers in the armed forces during the war. He enlisted in 1942, receiving his wings and was commissioned as pilot officer on graduation from training at Dauphin air station. He was a pilot of a Lancaster bomber and was reported missing and finally presumed dead after air operations over Germany.

Outlines Benefits Of Organization

One of the first benefits resulting from organization of the international federation of agricultural producers will be the strengthening of national farm organizations where they are already established, J. E. Brownlee, KC, vice-president of the United Grain Growers, said Wednesday in a dinner address to an agricultural audience in the Macdonald hotel.

THE MEETING was in conjunction with the agricultural short course sponsored by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and the provincial department of agriculture, which concludes Thursday in the Masonic Temple.

Mr. Brownlee was one of three delegates from Alberta to the first international federation conference held in London, England, last year.

He said establishment of the world federation would be a solid factor in promotion of international good-will.

CANADA'S REPRESENTATION with the world-wide agricultural organization was with the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, which in itself has done much to level out differences between eastern and western agricultural interests and farmers of Canada, Mr. Brownlee continued.

Third advantage and especially to western Canada and Alberta was the prospect of an expanding economy and world markets. These demanded broader planning in matters of primary production, supply and distribution.

Speaking of his visit to England and the British Isles, Mr. Brownlee paid high tribute to the people of those islands for their courage and fortitude through many years of trial and suffering.

Charles E. Garnett, president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, was chairman of the luncheon meeting, and introduced the speaker.

Damage Action Appeal Is Lost

The action brought by Alex and Francis Kaliel, Westlock district farmers and merchants, to set aside a judgement of Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald awarding $12,898 damages to Bartholemew Abearne, was dismissed in a supreme court judgement handed down Thursday by Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd.

THE PLAINTIFFS asked that the judgement be set aside on the ground it was obtained by perjured evidence. In his judgement, Mr. Justice Shepherd held that "the evidence, both new and that given at previous trials falls far short of sustaining the allegations of perjury. In fact, it does not even remotely establish it."

The judgement of Mr. Justice Macdonald was appealed to the court of appeal of this province and also to the supreme court of Canada, both courts dismissing the appeals.

Costs of the previous trials, and of this action were given against the plaintiffs.

THE FRONT PAGE article was entitled "An Act for the Better Management of Credit of Alberta."

Had Maj. Douglas consulted with any members of the government in framing this act, Mr. Hooper asked.

Premier Ernest Manning assured the CCF member that no consultations had taken place.

Rail Rates East to Alberta Higher Than to West Coast

OTTAWA, CP) — Hearings of the railway association's application for a 30-percent increase in freight rates continued before the transport board Thursday with evidence of C. E. Jefferson, freight traffic manager of the C.P.R.

Questioned by Alberta counsel J. J. Frawley, Mr. Jefferson admitted rates on canned meat had been reduced to the point where it cost the same amount to ship from eastern Canada to Vancouver as it did from Winnipeg to Vancouver.

The reduction had been made at the request of Winnipeg shippers. The railway had felt the Winnipeg application was justifiable.

No Edmonton Requests

Mr. Frawley asked why freight rates for shipping canned meat from Edmonton to Vancouver remained higher than the rate from Winnipeg and eastern Canada. The railway official said no request for a reduced rate had been received from Edmonton shippers.

"I take it, then, that freight carried going from eastern Canada to Vancouver with canned meat in effect go as far as Winnipeg without earning revenue," Mr. Frawley said.

"Not quite."

Mr. Frawley submitted figures showing comparative rates on carload lumber shipped from Vancouver to prairie points and from Mont Laurier, Que., to Ontario points of similar distances.

The rate from Vancouver to Edmonton — 764.9 miles — was 54 cents for 100 pounds of carload lumber. From Mont Laurier to Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., 740.2 miles, the rate was 29½ cents.

Less for Longer Haul

Another submission showed comparative rates on certain quantities of carload baking-powder as between points in eastern Canada and Calgary or Edmonton against the rate to Vancouver.

To Calgary or Edmonton the rate on baking-powder, subject to minimum shipments, was $2.33 for 100 pounds. From the same eastern points to Vancouver the rate was $1.70. The rate on barbed wire to the Alberta points was $1.98 compared with $1.25 to Vancouver.

Mr. Jefferson said the rates had been approved by the transport board. Commenting on remarks by Alberta counsel Frawley that Mr. Jefferson must "feel certain qualms about such differences," Chief Commissioner J. A. Cross said he doubted if matters of conscience were important.

Meet Panama Rates

Mr. Cross said he assumed the rate to Vancouver had to be reduced to meet Panama Canal competition, and that at the time of the reduction railways had not applied the rate proportionately to intermediate points.

Mr. Frawley, over the objections of railway association counsel, pointed to a principle applied in the United States known as the "Spokane rate." Under the U.S. ruling, no railway could charge higher rates for intermediate points than those charged for a terminal point. Only exceptions were those granted specifically by the inter-state commerce commission.

Mr. Jefferson said he was aware of this principle, but had found it impractical in Canada.

BRITAIN PRODUCES THE GOODS

Bevin Supports Canadian Stand

By James McCook

LONDON, (CP) — Foreign Secretary Bevin Thursday indicated his support of the Canadian government viewpoint that smaller nations should have partnership in peace-making as well as in war.

Bevin took his stand during his foreign policy speech to the commons.

Canadian proposals for adequate representation at peace-making consultations were laid before the just-concluded Big Four deputy foreign ministers' meeting here. In this connection Bevin told the house that in discussions of the German treaty he had "received strong representations from other countries, including the dominions, who claimed that a wrong interpretation was being placed on the power given the Big Four or Big Five under the Potsdam agreement and it was claimed by those whose soldiers fought that it was never intended to place an interpretation on the agreement to exclude them."

"Having regard to the sacrifices made in two wars by the dominions they must be adequately consulted in the settlement not merely at the stage when the treaty is being drafted but in changes now being considered," Bevin said.

Girl's Kidnap Story Declared Just Hoax

LONG BEACH, Calif., (AP)— Joseph Kennick, director of the police juvenile bureau, announced 17-year-old Jacquelyn Mae Shaw had confessed her story of being abducted, beaten, slashed and burned was a hoax.

"I tied myself. I scratched myself and I burned myself," Kennick quoted the girl. He said she refused to give any reason.

The girl, unconscious, bound with strips torn from her clothing, was found beneath a railroad underpass. Police said earlier she apparently had been tossed from a car and down an embankment.

Minister of Health Answers Questions

Questions by the CCF in the Alberta Legislature dealing with costs of welfare work in the province, and the division of the cost between the provincial government, municipalities and individuals, were answered Thursday by Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and public welfare.

ONE OF THE questions concerned the amount paid for the maintenance of patients at provincial mental hospitals, and the minister revealed that individuals had paid $268,200, and that revenue received by the hospitals was more than $1,120,000. Figures were not available as to the amount paid by municipalities and local improvement districts.

Municipalities paid $272,295 for their share of old age pensions during the year; $151,279 for mothers' allowances, $86,692 for child welfare, but other figures requested by the CCF were not available.

IT WAS EXPLAINED in the debate on a later motion that the figures were not available because the department had not yet received all its returns.

320 New Chamber Branches Formed

The private enterprise program of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is being received with wide favor by industries and firms across Canada, and in the past four months 320 new chamber branches have been organized, C. H. Sceffield, Montreal, manager of the membership department, said here Friday.

INTERVIEWED at the Macdonald hotel, Mr. Scoffield is in the course of a western tour of visits with officials of trade boards and chambers of commerce.

Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia were well represented in the increased number of new trade boards and chambers, he said.

While here Mr. Scoffield will confer with C. D. Jacox, provincial councillor to the Canadian Chamber. Charles E. Garnett, president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, T. A. Lawrence, executive secretary, and other officials including members of the junior chamber.

HE SAID C. Gordon Cockshutt, Brantford, president of the Canadian chamber expects to be making a tour of the west, including Edmonton, next Monday.

Mr. Scoffield will go from Edmonton to Vancouver and Victoria. At Vancouver he will confer with Reg T. Rose, executive secretary of the Vancouver Board of Trade, and formerly with the Edmonton chamber.

BUSINESS VISITOR

T. W. Siers, Winnipeg, superintendent of maintenance for Canadian Pacific Air lines, is in Edmonton on the business of his company and will confer here with local officials. He is a guest at the Macdonald hotel.

MOSCOW BAGS WOLVES

MOSCOW — (CP) — Nearly 250 wolves have been killed since the winter's first snowfall in large-scale hunts in this area which will continue until April. Officials say this is 40 per cent more than last year.

Lack of Interest Of Public Scored

Gallery seats in the legislative chamber should be at a premium, S. A. Berg, (SC-Alexandra) declared as he looked at the half-empty galleries during the debate on the Speech from the throne Thursday afternoon.

"IT SHOULD be necessary for us to have loudspeakers outside so that the public will know what is going on here," he added. The member was speaking of the lack of interest shown by the public in affairs of government.

He said he did not always agree with the government, but that so long as it stayed "on the beam" in its fight for justice he was going to support it. He warned Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, that he was "going to camp right on his doorstep" to urge construction of a highway to Cold Lake.

Tenders called for construction of a four-mile highway in the south of the province indicated that the "minister of public works was planning to build some good highways," C. C. Halman (SC-Warner) told the assembly Wednesday afternoon in his contribution to the debate.

The member gave approximate costs of the Mc-Kay's-Milk River irrigation project and indicated the effect this would have on the economy, not only of the section of the province from whence he comes but on the whole national scene.

CONGRATULATIONS should be extended to the minister of education and to the correspondence school branch for carrying on in the face of difficulties, Mr. Halmrast said. While school conditions were not always ideal, the department was making the best of a bad job, he claimed.

Insurance

that the same insurance in that province would cost him, under the government plan, $17.00.

He had further good words for Saskatchewan's compulsory insurance scheme, in that it was not necessary for persons involved in an accident to resort to lengthy litigation to collect whatever-sums were due them. In 64 out of 65 fatal accident cases in Saskatchewan, financial compensation had been given he said. The one case in which no payment had been made involved a technical difficulty.

A RESERVE FUND of $700,000 had been established for car insurance in the neighboring province, the CCF leader said, and this after only one year of operation.

Every person in the province should be protected, Mr. Roper said not just motorists. This would be the case if every driver was insured, he said.

In seconding the resolution, A. E. Liesemer, Mr. Roper's CCF desk mate, pointed out that while the government seemed to fear the compulsory feature of the insurance provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act were mandatory and little objection was found to them.

The government had made a careful study of various car insurance schemes, Mr. Hooke said, when he rose to reply on behalf of the government.

HE QUOTED AT length from a report submitted by John J. Robinette, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, who explored the problem of assuring financial responsibility of the drivers of motor vehicles. The survey had been made at the request of the All Canadian Insurance Federation.

The Toronto barrister recommends against the acceptance of the compulsory insurance scheme and favors the improvement of financial responsibility laws.

Mr. Hooke pointed out that though the state of Massachusetts had introduced compulsory car insurance in 1927, none of the other states in the United States had yet seen fit to follow its example. This was significant he said.

IN SASKATCHEWAN Mr. Hooke said, the scheme having been in operation for only a year it was yet too early to be certain of the value of it.

In Manitoba, it was pointed out a fund is built up through an assessment of one dollar on every licensed motor vehicle. However, the existence of the fund did not clear the driver of financial responsibility. Victims of accidents caused by drivers unable to discharge their financial responsibility only were reimbursed from this fund, with the result that many motorists take out public liability insurance to cover themselves. It is stated that this legislation is having a very salutary effect in that province.

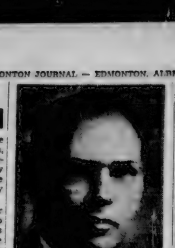
IN THOSE PLACES where compulsory car insurance had been in effect for some time, Mr. Hooke said, reading a list of countries and states, it had been found necessary to make many new exemptions. In Great Britain for example, it had been found that compulsory car insurance did not provide the required safety.

He could not favor approval of the resolution as it now stood before the assembly, Mr. Hooke said, but repeated that other legislation would probably be introduced in the house to deal with the problem.

C. I. Sayers (SC Camrose) moved the adjournment of the debate, which will probably be continued next Thursday.

New Zealanders Visit Legislature

Members of the legislative assembly applauded on Thursday afternoon when 12 university students from New Zealand visiting Alberta for a few days were introduced to the house from the speaker's gallery, by Mr. Speaker Peter Dawson. He asked the students from "down under" to rise in their places.



SPEAKER—The Rev. Angus J. MacQueen, B.A., B.D., minister of Robertson United Church, who will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the British and Foreign Bible Society, North Alberta Auxiliary, to be held Tuesday, March 4 at 8 p.m. in First Baptist Church. The general public is invited to attend this meeting.

Ice Show

ied roles to which they were assigned.

From the club's own roster, however, the truly magnificent performance of Lillian and Murdo Munro in Mollling Down to Rio" as a standout that won round after round of deserved applause.

Of several fine performances during the evening, the stripping presentation of Buff McCusker and Joanne Rupp McCusker in "Temptation", took the big crowd by storm.

BUFF MCCUSKER had no difficulty in demonstrating why he was a skating partner of the great Sonja Henie. An effortless skater who never came even close to error, he had an equally perfect partner in his wife of recent date.

In their "Temptation" number, the pair proved that the most intricate of the interpretative dances can be carried out on the flashing blades as easily as behind the glow of the footlights.

Then the Kennedy Kids, Karol and Peter, sensational Seattle youngsters, just returned from a runner-up performance in the world's skating championships in Stockholm, also came up with an act that drew deserved applause.

BILLED IN THE routine and known to win second world honors in Sweden, these two gifted youngsters have poise, charm and a style that appeals.

Hilarity and horse-play with several new twists in a literal sense was dished up by three professionals in the persons of Skee Goodhart and Dot McCusker, stars of "Hollywood on Skates" and Heinie Brock, star of the Hollywood Ice Follies.

Miss McCusker introduced something that just shouldn't be done, fancy figures on a pair of skiis.

Her partner, Goodhart, is supposed to show up this skiis-on-ice business but his disdain turns to amazement as the agile Dot repeats and improves on his efforts, much to the delight of the onlookers.

HEINIE BROCK does a lot of crazy things on ice but what really wowed the folks was his frequent startling dashes over the rinkside to fondly embrace the womenfolk in the audience.

One middle-aged lady in the south end of the ring was singled out as special "object" of affection.

The lady didn't seem to like it too well but that didn't stop Heinie. He finished his dizzy act by dumping a 50-pound hunk of very cold ice in her lap.

Dot McCusker worked along the same lines, only a couple of happily astonished gentlemen of the audience were recipients of her "fond" embraces. The "old boys" reacted quite differently than the lady previously mentioned. They seemed to like that kind of sport.

YOUNGSTERS STARRED in the first act with interpretative numbers featuring Margot Hart, ladies' junior club champion; Betty Sprague, Janet Park and Mary Wynne Moar; Carol Taylor, girl's juvenile club champion and Excnia English and Barbara Park, girl's juvenile pair champions and Connie English and Thelma Miller, girl's juvenile pair champions.

Others were also Bruce Carr and Arlene Howarth, boys' juvenile club champion and girls' preliminary club champion.

Jane Emery, ladies intermediate club champion and Ian Kellie; Phyllis Sutton, Arlene Jones and Janet Matheson were sparkling as they highlighted several intricate group numbers in the first act.

PHYLLIS SUTTON, the senior club champion gave another fine performance early in the second act along with Stephanie MacDonald, the latter being a warm favorite with arena ice show crowds for several seasons now.

The last act had a distinctly Latin flavor with a fiesta the main feature.

The whole show indicated good

Students Guests Of Rotary Club

Two members of a party of 12 New Zealand students, who visited Edmonton, were guests of honor at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at the Macdonald hotel Thursday noon. They were Miss Patricia Ralph and Des Hurley, who spoke briefly. The latter traced the growth and influence of the socialist government in New Zealand, and talked about its influence on present day education in New Zealand.

BERT HOLLINGSHEAD, president, was chairman during the business portion of the meeting, turning the meeting over to Dr. G. F. McNally who introduced the guests.

Egon Grapentin played several violin selections.

AMA President Back in City

Dr. G. J. Hope, provincial president of the Alberta Motor Association, has returned to the city after a trip to Lethbridge and Medicine Hat. At the former city he spoke on "Canada's National Playgrounds", to members of the Kiwanis club. In the address, he forecast better days ahead in highway development, and said that this improvement in roads would have a beneficial effect on tourist travel in this province, both from other parts of Canada and from the United States.

Dr. Hope's address is a credit to ice show manager Albert J. Huff, L. Scott Brewster, Club President Dr. H. N. Knight and the many others associated with these officials in organizing, rehearsing and staging of the display.

THE MUSICIANS, under the able direction of Jack Jacknisky, gave a splendid caste of performers the kind of support to which they are entitled.

TOUGH DEMONSTRATION

WINNIPEG. — (CP) — In his annual report, safety director W. Trevor Davies tells about a man who was employed in a saw-mill and had his finger cut off on a circular saw. He was asked by the insurance adjuster to illustrate the accident. This time he used his second finger, and it, too, was sliced off by the buzzing saw.

By Unanimous Resolution

Province Asked to Assume Bigger Share of Tax Load

The provincial government has been requested to "give consideration to relieving the municipal taxpayer of the burden of any part of the cost of old age pensions or mothers allowances, and that consideration also be given to the assumption by the province of a greater portion of the cost of indigent relief, hospitalization and the cost of maintaining defective children in training schools," in an amended resolution which was given unanimous support of the legislature Thursday afternoon.

THE ORIGINAL resolution proposed by A. J. E. Liesemer (CCF, Calgary) did not meet with approval of Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and welfare, since in its preamble, it had dealt with deficiencies of the present government. The preamble to Dr. Cross' proposed amendment pointed out the province already was assuming all of some and a large proportion of other social service costs in the province.

Andrew Davison (Ind., Calgary) expressed hope that the budget to be brought down later in the session would share with the municipalities some of the benefits which had been won in the new Dominion-provincial tax transfer agreement.

He said he was willing to support the amended resolution, but was afraid it was intended to wait another year before giving municipalities relief needed in these matters. He realized that in past years the provincial government had been unable to take the necessary steps.

MR. DAVISON, a former mayor of Calgary, was anxious that the cities of Edmonton and Calgary should receive more consideration than has been shown in the past.

In introducing his original motion, Mr. Liesemer said that supplying the social services listed in the resolution cost the city of Edmonton $132,918, which represented 2.3 mills of the tax dollar. This was excessive, he said. Only one other province forced the municipal tax payer to make similar contributions to old age pensions, he stated.

"The opposition delights in building up a straw man for us to tear in pieces." Dr. Cross said when he proposed the amendment to the resolution.

OTHERS taking part in the debate were Arthur Wray (SC, Banff-Cochrane) who requested details on the increased cost of requested services; Elmer E. Roper (CCF, Edmonton) who gave figures on the increase in taxation on various farms and also quoted from municipal district financial reports as to the amount expended on social services.

W. J. Williams (Vet., Edmonton) suggested the extra money needed to pay for increased social services be obtained by an additional tax on the pari-mutuel machines at provincial race tracks.

Miss Kathleen Gorrie, executive secretary of Gordon House, Vancouver, will arrive in Edmonton Saturday evening. She is coming to this province as a consultant for the Alberta Welfare Study being conducted by the IODE, and to speak at various meetings.

SHE WAS born in Toronto and educated in Havergal College in that city. In 1926 she graduated from the School of Social Work of the University of Toronto. Her first professional work was in the welfare division of the department of health, Toronto. After that she was for ten years, 1927-37, executive secretary of the Protestant Children's Homes in Toronto.

This is an organization providing foster home care for school age children who need short or longer care because of illness, death or misfortune of one or both parents. From 1937-39 she was executive secretary of the Welfare Council of Toronto. Since then she has spent her time in recreation and community centre work, first as executive director of the Dale Community of Hamilton, Ont., and since 1943 as executive secretary of Gordon House in Vancouver, B.C.

AT VARIOUS times Miss Gorrie has acted as lecturer in children's work at the Toronto School of Social Work, as a member of the board of directors of the Canadian Welfare Council and as a Canadian representative to an International Conference of Social Workers in Germany.

During 1936 she had the unique opportunity of studying child welfare work in the Soviet Union, the Scandinavian countries and Finland.

Girl Stands Eggs on End

TRAIL, B. C.-(CP) —Miss Belinda Mammone proved here that she could stand an egg on end without breaking the shell—a trick that Christopher Columbus failed to do.

Perhaps Trail chickens lay queer-shaped eggs. At any rate it can be done and not with just one egg but six—and all at the same time.

Belinda, only 15, announced her achievement to a Trail Times reporter and also invited the newspaper office to demonstrate. She selected one from half-a-dozen eggs and skilfully, after considerable time, balanced it on the broad end.

"There," she said triumphantly, "and what's more I had six of them standing on end at home this morning."

Say Married Life Is Disillusioning

An army chaplain thinks that the reason that so many of the returning G. I.'s have forsaken their wives is because during the time they were overseas they idealized the domestic life. They forgot all the talk about their Marias' tempers and fussy ways, and what bum cooks they were, and how the bill-collector was always hammering on the door, and how the children fought and the babies cried, and all the other unpleasantness of family life.

Viewed from the distance of a few thousand miles, home, sweet home seemed the most beautiful spot on earth; a place where, according to the old song, "never was heard a discouraging word," and where wives stayed young and beautiful and yes-yessed their husbands and fed them on angel's food, and children were cherubs instead of little pests, and rent was free, and steaks descended like manna from heaven and everything was perfectly jake.

SO IT IS NO wonder that when Joe gets his discharge and returns home and finds things as they are, instead of the Elysium he has been dreaming up about them, so often he is unable to take it, and goes over the hill. And before we call him a quitter, and remind him of the wedding vows and throw his duty in his face, we may well drop a tear of sympathy on his shoulder, for we have all been there.

We know from experience that there is no going back and taking up life where we laid it down. Everything is changed. The old home isn't what it used to be and even our nearest and dearest, from whom we have been separated for a long time, are strangers to us.

Of course, the teen-age war marriages are responsible for many of the soldiers going A. W. O. L., matrimonially speaking. That was inevitable because the youngsters grew up fast during the crucial experiences they had been through, and as men and women they no longer loved those who had ravished their youthful fancies. Absence has made their hearts grow fonder of somebody else and the old romance vanishes like mist in the sun.

BUT THE disenchantment that the soldier so often finds on his return is not his grief alone. It is just as frequently the wife's tragedy as well, because if Joe has changed, so has she, and she finds it no easier to adjust herself to him than he does to her. And if she looks like no glamour girl to him, you can be sure that she is asking herself what she ever saw in him that made her want to marry him.

Many a returning serviceman finds that the wife he left behind him has developed an entirely different set of characteristics in his absence. She is no longer a clinging vine. She has turned into a sturdy oak. She is no timid little creature who asks her husband what he thinks she thinks. She tells him. Before the war she couldn't count change up to a dollar. Now she is a shrewd business woman and it doesn't take her husband long to find out that she is going to be the purse-toter in the future.

For the first time in her life she has had freedom and known the fun of bossing things, and no mere husband is going to order her around again. And many a man who, before the war, was the supreme dictator in his home now finds himself saying yes ma'am and jumping when his wife speaks.

Yes, the war has changed a great many things. Especially marriage.

Bridge

By William E. McKenney

Today's hand was played by Cecil Head of New York when he and his teammates won the Northeastern team-of-four championship.

When South jumped to four hearts and West went to five clubs, Head was confronted with quite a problem. There might be a slam in the hand, and on the other hand, the spade suit might be bunched against him.

However, he felt that his partner, West, would not have made a free bid of five clubs if he were not prepared to have East bid spades. West correctly passed the five-spade bid because he had no quick tricks in anything but clubs.

North won the opening heart lead with the ace and returned the three of diamonds, which Head won with the king. He played a small club to dummy's king and returned a small spade, winning with the queen.

Now a careless player might have led another club to dummy and North would have ruffed it, defeating the contract, but Head realized that both North and South were marked with plenty of hearts, so he simply led the queen of hearts and trumped with the six of spades. The nine of spades was played back, North went in with the ace and returned another diamond. Head won this and cashed his high trump, making the contract of five.

If East had passed five clubs, with Spade opening, the opponents would have taken the first four tricks — the ace of spades, a spade ruff, the ace of hearts and another spade ruff.

THE SOUTH POLE MEN AIR ERA DAWNS IN THE ANTARCTIC

We have told you of Roald Amundsen's discovery of the South Pole in December, 1911, and of Robert Falcon Scott's tragic death after reaching the Pole only a month later.

In 1914, Scott's fellow countryman, Sir Ernest Shackleton (he had been knighted in 1909), undertook his third expedition into the Antarctic. Previously, in 1901-1904, he had accompanied Scott, and in 1908-1909 had led his own expedition. Now in 1914, he set himself the appalling task of crossing the Antarctic continent from the Weddell Sea to the Ross Sea — 1,800 miles, of which more than half, from the Weddell Sea to the Pole, was unknown ground. Two years later, he and his party returned to England after incredible adventures.

The wreck of Shackleton's ship Endurance in 1915. For five months, he and 27 others were stranded on an ice floe.

—Royal Geographic Society

In brief, this is what happened. New land was sighted and was named Caird Coast. But the weather was bad, and Shackleton's ship, the Endurance, could find no landing place. She was frozen in, in January, 1915. For nine months she drifted with the ice until she was finally crushed to fragments, leaving 28 men stranded on an ice floe.

Luckily they had saved much food and gear, as well as three boats. For five months they camped on their icy raft. In April, 1916, the floe broke up and they took to the boats, reaching Elephant Island. Leaving Frank Wild in charge of 21 men on a desolate sandy spit swept by blizzards, with only the barest food supply and two upturned boats for refuge, Shackleton with five men took to the remaining 23-foot boat and reached South Georgia, 750 miles away. After three attempts he succeeded, in August, 1916, in rescuing the entire party.

Shackleton set out on another voyage, his third, in September, 1921. However, he had overstrained his heart and died at sea.

Long years after Shackleton's death, Antarctic exploration lagged. Then, in 1928, a new era dawned and several assaults by air began to be made on the great desolate continent. Sir George Hubert Wilkins took his plane to Deception Island and on December 20, 1928, was the first to fly in the Antarctic. He returned a year later and made several more flights. Altogether he flew about 6,000 miles and discovered 14 islands and 1,300 miles of coastline.

Rear-Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, who had already flown over the North Pole, took along several airplanes on his first Antarctic expedition in 1928. This was by far the best equipped of its kind. It took four ships to carry the expedition to its base. This was established on the Ross Ice Barrier at the Bay of Whales and named Little America.

The chief aim of the expedition was to explore its highlight was Byrd's flight to the South Pole on November 29, 1929. With Bernt Balchen as pilot, he set out from Little America in the trimotored monoplane, Floyd Bennett. The Pole was reached without incident. The flag of the United States was dropped there. To honor Scott and Amundsen, flags of Norway and England were also dropped. Nineteen hours after the start, the fliers were safely back in Little America.

When the expedition returned home in 1930, it had mapped 500,000 square miles of territory—200,000 of it never before seen—made 23 flights, and collected a vast amount of scientific material.

Three years later Byrd led a similar, larger expedition. Four airplanes, including an autogiro, were taken along. Little America was dug out again and enlarged. Byrd himself elected to stay five months alone at an advanced weather station 123 miles south of Little America, where he nearly died of poisonous fumes from his stove before relief came. And in the previous expedition, many flights were made and much territory was mapped and explored.

The American explorer Lincoln Ellsworth and Sir Hubert Wilkins set out in 1934 to fly across the Antarctic continent, but their plane was damaged on the ice. In 1939, Ellsworth, with J. H. Lymburner as his pilot, explored a vast Antarctic tract south of the continental barrier in the Eastern Hemisphere; he laid claim to this territory for the United States.

In the same year, Byrd set out on his third Antarctic expedition, the last one prior to the current Byrd expedition.

Tomorrow: An Elephant Made of Walnuts

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

The persons who disapprove most vocally of early sex information for children are very apt to be the ones who have never tried it, or who, themselves, were kept in so-called innocence. Those who do admit that their children react sweetly to this new knowledge and are the same lovely beings as before.

Mrs. Y. C. M. has three children 10, 8½ and 5 years. "The youngest has been the baby so long that I was a bit worried when I had to tell her that there was to be another baby," she writes. "But then I began talking naturally about a baby being on the way to us. I explained where it was and only a few embarrassing circumstances developed, one when my youngest told a bus load of people, 'Mommy is going to have a baby.' It caused a wave of mirth but no one was hurt by it.

"I got scolded by other parents because my children were so proud that we were to have a new baby. It took some talking to convince the children not to advertise it.

"The baby is due any day now and I hope I shall have as good luck preventing jealousy as I have had so far. All three have gone on treasure hunts for baby soap and diapers. They helped to locate the left-over baby clothes and wash and mend them, put new ribbons through bonnets and buy ribbons for bindings.

"They helped scrub the second-hand bassinet I found and selected the outfit for me to bring the baby home in. They packed my suitcase and put it by the front door and each morning they glance to be sure it is still there. The suitcase seems to be a symbol to them, even if the living room isn't the place for it.

"There are still people who disapprove of telling children the truth, but any child should know all about their own births. To them it is like a fairy story and they want to hear it over and over about the trip to the hospital and how long before they were born.

"Since I have no fear-complex about childbirth these tales make three, nice stories for them."

The proof of your good judgment is more valuable than mere conjecture of how a child would be supposed to react to the truth. After all, nature makes no mystery of child-bearing. The evidences of it are there for any person to see. Our custom of hiding it is therefore an artificial one we would do well to abandon, as the vast majority of parents have, long since.

Our leaflet No. 47 "Sex Information" suggests ways in which to tell children about sex facts. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Why Grow Old?

Of course blondes, like Actress Leslie Brooks above, aren't so apt to gray young. But for the brunette it's a vital problem which Josephine Lowman discusses today.

By Josephine Lowman

As I told you yesterday, Michel, famous Ney York hair stylist, believes in change, in adopting the new mode. He also asked me to emphasize in your mind the fact that every mode can be adapted to a woman's facial contour so that the effect is becomingly as well as smart. There are dozens of adaptations of every style.

This artist first achieved acclaim in Paris. I asked him whether more French women or more Americans have gray hair. He said that gray hair is much more prevalent here in America than it is in France. This is true even in the small French towns, far away from the Parisian metropolis.

French women do not allow their hair to become gray and they dye it when it does. When the first few gray hairs appear they face the question and decide whether or not they will allow their locks to turn gray. If they decide that they are not going to have gray hair they have the first few touched up. It seems to me this is a very sound principle. In other words, You aren't gray one day and brunette the next. There is no comment concerning your hair at all unless it is just a complimentary one about how lovely it is.

This interested me, especially because I receive so many letters from women asking whether they should dye gray hair. I always reply that this is an individual matter, depending entirely on how gray hair makes you feel. If it has unfortunate psychological repercussions, then for heaven's sake, dye it. If it doesn't, you will probably look even prettier with gray hair.

This does seem to be a decision which it would be well to make early in the graying process. Michel told me of many amusing experiences, one of which I will tell you. It seems that he was at a party when the husband of one of his long married clients said to him, "Did you ever see such georgeous natural blond hair as my wife has?" Michel had been dying it for her for at least 15 years.

Gray hair, and what to do, is a decision which you must make for yourself, depending entirely upon your reaction to it, but I think the French women's technique of deciding early in the game is more glamorous.

JUST BIG BOY

WINNIPEG. — (CP) — Carving names on furniture resulted in an exchange of desks at a recent city council meeting. Ald. E. A. Brotman suggested he exchange desks with Ald. George Sharpe as his desk had the name "Sharp" carved on it. Investigations showed the only other Sharpe to hold office was Ald. Sharpe's father. The exchange effected—Ald. Sharpe was still wondering after council adjourned, "I don't think he'd leave the 'e' off his name."

AIR TAXI CHEAPER

MELBOURNE, Australia —(CP) —Three Australian timber men who took an air taxi from the state of Victoria to Sandakan, Borneo, found the mileage fare cheaper than for a taxi cab. The 3,950 mile trip cost about five cents a mile, compared with 16 cents a mile for taxis here.

Points for Parents

Mother: "Aunt Mary shouldn't have loaned such a nice book to as careless a little girl as you are. Just see how dirty you've gotten it!"

Mother: "We'll put a cover on this lovely book Aunt Mary loaned you and always wash our hands before we look at it so we won't get it dirty."

Teaching children how to care for the property of others is far better than finding fault with them because they do not do so without teaching.

Vocational Training Plan Is Popular at Delburne

DELBURNE—An official of the provincial health and vocational training scheme, after a surprise visit to the Delburne Athletic association, described that organization as "a good setup." He commended it the leaders for the fine club performance staged.

Sixty clubs such as the Delburne athletic association are scattered throughout Alberta, with 140 leaders. Elnora is Delburne's closest neighboring club. Anxious to see such clubs flourish, the government does not start them, preferring action to begin with the community concerned.

Delburne's club was started when R. Dunsmuir started a junior boys hockey team last winter. It rapidly developed into a year-round organization, now boasting an active membership of 80 boys and 30 girls. It also receive athletic and physical culture instruction from Don and Mervin Haerle, brothers who took the youth training course at Red Deer last summer.

Mr Dunsmuir is in charge of the boys, and his wife in charge of the girls They are instructed weekly at the village dance hall in physical culture, badminton, St. John Ambulance courses (the girls by Mrs. W. G Townsend, and the boys by Const. A. C. Kirkberg, R.C.M.P.), basketball and soccer, in season. The boys also wrestle and box. Fixtures of the club are in good shape, and already much equipment has been purchased.

Delburne Athletic association has accepted a challenge to meet Trochu in an inter-town athletic competition in March.

Queens Crowned Heisler Carnival

HEISLER — First annual ice carnival held recently was a success with the feature event the dual crowning of carnival queens Irene Krystofiak and Ramona Heiten.

A highlight was the broomball game between Badry's Bombers and Hruby's Hurricanes, the latter winning by a 1-0 score.

Softball on skates also was played and a dance concluded the evening's enjoyment.

PLAN BLOOD BANK

RIMBEY. — Rimbey Lions club plans to sponsor a blood bank here under the supervision of Dr. Bugis. All men willing to donate blood for emergency transfusions will be typed, and a complete record will be filed by the doctor.

Many peasant families in the Italian mountain town of Carnamanico who helped New Zealand soldiers escape from prisoner-of-war camps after Mussolini's overthrow in 1943, have been getting gifts of clothing and children's toys from New Zealand recently.

Chile has a postwar revival of football, badminton and other sports.

Colorful Carnival At Dawson Creek

DAWSON CREEK—Alice Higens, Alaska highway queen and carrying the colors of the Train Transport, was crowned queen of the first annual Gyro winter carnival. A. R. Carter, of Edmonton, crowned the queen at an impressive ceremony held after the dance on the Dawson Creek rink.

A record crowd attendance participated in the day's program which started with one of the best parades ever held here. There were several decorated bicycles, a number of school children in fancy costumes and decorated dogs and sleighs.

During the day the crowd witnessed two good hockey games. Dawson Creek defeated the crew from the Loran station 3 to 2 in the first game and in the evening Dawson defeated Fort St. John 4 to 3 playing some of the best and fastest hockey to be played here this season.

Three broomball games were played which provided plenty of spills for the participants and lots of thrills and excitement for the crowd. The Elks team took first prize by defeating the Jaycees in the deciding game.

The highlight of the days program was an exhibition of fancy skating performed by eight high school girls who had been trained by Miss Dorothy Forrest and Miss Leslie White.

Miss White and Miss Forrest made a striking picture on ice as they waltzed and danced their way into the hearts of the crowd who asked the girls again and again for an encore.

RETURN FROM CURLING

INNISFREE—H. Canton and J. Kolmantyak have returned from Wetaskiwin where they were curling with the National Grain rink. They were successful in gaining second place in the grand challenge of the Wetaskiwin bonspiel. One rink, skipped by A. Halvick, is representing this town in the Vermilion bonspiel.
